

GOD-INCARNATE BEINGS

THE NEW HUMAN SPECIES BORN OF GOD

GIFTS · FRUIT · HOLINESS · UNITY
AND THE FULLNESS OF CHRIST IN YOU

IN ADAM — a living soul.
God-breathed.
God-like.
The first human species.

IN CHRIST —
a life-giving spirit.
God-born.
God-indwelt.
A new human species
bearing the DNA of heaven.

GENESIS 2:7 · 1 CORINTHIANS 15:45 · ROMANS 8:29 · 2 PETER 1:4

GOD-INCARNATE BEINGS

What if the most astonishing truth about Christianity is not what most believers have heard from the pulpit?

What if the resurrection of Jesus Christ did not merely offer forgiveness — but opened the door to a new human species?

What if “born again” means exactly what it says: a second birth, from a second Father, producing a second kind of humanity altogether?

In God-Incarnate Beings, Pastor Willie E. Johnson draws from the deepest wells of Scripture — Hebrew and Greek roots, and the unbroken line of New Testament revelation — to answer the question beneath every sincere prayer:

How far can a human being actually go in God?

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren.”

— ROMANS 8:29 (KJV)

PASTOR WILLIE E. JOHNSON, LCSW

is a licensed clinical social worker, ordained minister, and student of Scripture whose life work is the pursuit of the fullness of Christ in the fullness of His body —

across every culture, every background, every nation.

• WWW.SADNESSISAPIMP.COM •

ALL SCRIPTURE: KING JAMES VERSION (KJV)

GOD-INCARNATE BEINGS

— — —

*The New Human Species Born of God
Gifts, Fruit, Holiness, Unity, and the Fullness of Christ in You*

In Adam — a living soul. God-breathed. God-like. The first human species.

*In Christ — a life-giving spirit. God-born. God-indwelt.
A new human species bearing the DNA of heaven.*

Genesis 2:7 · 1 Corinthians 15:45 · Romans 8:29 · 2 Peter 1:4

By Pastor Willie E. Johnson, LCSW

T A B L E O F C O N T E N T S

Foreword: A Word Before We Begin.....	3
A Personal Word from the Author.....	6
Chapter 1: The Incarnation.....	10
Chapter 2: The New Human Species.....	13
Chapter 3: The New Birth.....	16
Chapter 4: The Firstborn Among Many Brothers	22
Chapter 5: The Death Barrier.....	25
Chapter 6: The Kingdom of God Is Within You...	27
Chapter 7: The Same Spirit That Raised Christ..	29
Chapter 8: Filled with All the Fullness of God...	31
Chapter 9: Partakers of the Divine Nature.....	33
Chapter 10: The Nine Gifts of the Holy Ghost...	35
Chapter 11: The Nine Fruit of the Holy Ghost...	39
Chapter 12: Gifts and Fruit Together.....	45
Chapter 13: The Absolute Necessity of Holy Living	47
Chapter 14: The Sanctified Life in Practice.....	50
Chapter 15: One New Man.....	52
Chapter 16: Humility — The Foundation of All...	55
Chapter 17: The Longing Soul.....	58
Chapter 18: How Far Can You Really Go?.....	61
Chapter 19: Spirit, Soul, and Body.....	63
Chapter 20: Thirty Days of Pressing In.....	74
Chapter 21: How a God-Incarnate Being Prays. .	98
Chapter 22: A Word to the One Who Keeps Falling	105
Chapter 23: Jesus — The Prototype.....	111
Chapter 24: Paul — The Depths and the Thorn	117

Chapter 25: Tarrying — How We Came Through	123
Chapter 26: I Am Not of This World.....	128
Chapter 27: The Blood of Jesus.....	134
Chapter 28: What Happens When We Die?.....	139
Chapter 29: The God-Incarnate Marriage.....	144
Chapter 30: Mental Health and the New Creation	151
Chapter 31: Deep Intercession.....	178
Testimonies of Transformation.....	186
Greek and Hebrew Word Glossary.....	191
About the Author.....	194
Scripture Reference Index.....	196

Foreword

A Word Before We Begin

This book is an act of holy audacity. It dares to ask, with full seriousness and full scriptural weight, the question that lies beneath every sincere prayer and every midnight cry toward heaven: How far can a human being actually go in God?

Not merely forgiven. Not merely saved from hell. Not merely morally improved or spiritually disciplined. But transformed. Inhabited. Possessed by the living God Himself. What are the outer limits of that reality? What does the Scripture actually declare, in its full cumulative weight, about the destiny of a man or woman filled with the Holy Ghost?

The answer this book arrives at is enormous. It may disturb your current understanding of Christianity. It will challenge the smallness we have so often built our faith around. But every word of it is drawn line by line, verse by verse, from the King James Bible and confirmed by the original Hebrew and Greek.

But let this warning be stated plainly from the opening page: this book holds two truths in inseparable tension. First, the unsearchable riches of what God has made available in Christ. Second, the absolute, non-negotiable requirement of a holy, clean, sanctified, humble, morally upright life as the only vessel God will fill with His fullness. These are not two messages. They are one. Any pursuit of power without purity, of gifts without fruit, of glory without humility, is not the God-Incarnate life. It is its most dangerous counterfeit.

Read with hunger. And read with reverence. And let every chapter make you long for more of the God who gave Himself to live inside you.

A Personal Word from the Author

Before we begin, I need to tell you something.

— — —

I did not sit down one day and decide to write a theology book. That is not how this started. This book started in a nightclub in Greenwood, Mississippi, in a neighborhood called Buckeye Quarters, in the home of parents who owned a combined nightclub and restaurant, where the only path to my bedroom led through the bar.

I saw things in that place that children should never see. I did things as a teenager that I am not proud of. By the time I graduated high school, I was reading somewhere between a third and a fifth-grade level. I had been in the drug scene — marijuana, whiskey, wine, beer, cocaine. I was not on my way anywhere. I was simply in the world, carried along by whatever the world was offering that day.

Then the Holy Ghost started prompting me.

Not once. Not twice. Several times, with the patient, persistent, irresistible drawing of a God who had already decided. And on April 10, 1983 — at nineteen years old, at Pentecostal Temple Church of God in Christ in Greenwood, Mississippi, under the ministry of Pastor O’Ville Payton of Clarksdale — I gave my life to the Lord Jesus Christ.

I walked away from everything I had known in the world. Not reluctantly. Not gradually. I left it because in that moment I found something so far beyond anything the world had ever given me that there was simply no comparison. No marijuana ever gave me what I felt that night. No whiskey. No cocaine. Nothing. What entered me that night was joy I had no category for, peace that made no natural sense, and something else — something I had no words for yet.

I felt a personality inside of me by the name of Purpose.

I did not have the theological language for what I was experiencing. I did not know the Greek word sperma theou. I did not know 1 John 3:9 or 2 Peter 1:4 or 2 Corinthians 5:17. But something had happened on the inside of me that I knew — in the way you know things that are too real for words — was permanent. Was different. Was new.

Years later, after the Word of God opened to me in ways that no remedial speed reading class could explain, after I graduated Mississippi Valley State University and earned an academic scholarship to the University of Michigan, after I completed my Master of Social Work and became a licensed clinical social worker, after decades of ministry and pastoral care and the study of Scripture in its original languages — I finally had the words for what I felt that April night at nineteen years old in Greenwood.

What I felt was the sperma of God entering my dead human spirit and raising it to life.

I was a new creation. Not improved. Not reformed. Not morally upgraded. Re-specified. A new kind of human being. A member of a species that had never existed in my family line before. The second human species. The Christ-natured species. And for over forty years, the question beneath every prayer I have prayed, every sermon I have preached, every person I have sat with in a clinical session or a counseling room has been the same question:

How far can a human being actually go in God?

I believe the Scripture answers that question. I believe the answer is enormous. And I believe it is available — not to a spiritual elite, not to those with seminary degrees, not to those with perfect pasts — but to anyone, from any background, from any neighborhood, from any level of education, from any degree of moral failure, who will open their heart and receive the seed of God by faith in Jesus Christ.

Even a boy from a nightclub in Greenwood, Mississippi.

— — —

I want to say one more thing before you begin. I gave God all the glory for any understanding in these pages. It was His love and His patience for me that gave me the insight of His Scripture, not my own intelligence. Read with your Bible open. Read with hunger. And let the Holy Ghost speak directly to your spirit as you read. He is not an it. He is not a force. He is a Person. And He will speak.

To God be all the glory,

Pastor Willie E. Johnson, LCSW

Greenwood, Mississippi • Ann Arbor • Lansing • Nevada

Chapter One: The Incarnation — God in Actual Human Flesh

C H A P T E R 1

John 1:1-14 · Colossians 2:9 · Hebrews 1:3 · KJV

To understand what Christians are, you must first understand with absolute clarity what Jesus was. He was not a good man elevated to divine status by the sincerity of His life. He was not a spiritual being who appeared to be human. He was not a prophet among prophets, a teacher among teachers. He was God Almighty — the Creator and Sustainer of the universe, the Maker of galaxies, the One by whom and for whom all things were made — who took upon Himself actual, physical, biological human flesh and was born into the world through the womb of a virgin. This is the foundation of everything. If it moves, everything else collapses.

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made... And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth."

— John 1:1-3, 14, KJV

The Greek word translated "Word" is Logos — the rational intelligence behind all created reality, the creative Word that spoke the cosmos into being. John announces the most staggering news in the history of the universe: this Logos, this eternal, uncreated Creator-God, became flesh. The Greek is sarx — real, physical, tangible human flesh. Not a spiritual appearance. Not a simulation of humanity. God became a man with a heartbeat, a mother, a human childhood, and a human death.

λόγος (Logos) — The Word — the eternal rational intelligence and creative power of God. Not a created being but the divine mind itself, eternally God, through whom everything was made.

σάρξ (sarx) — Flesh — real biological, physical human flesh. The Incarnation was material, bodily, and complete. God did not appear to be human; He became human.

ἐσκήνωσεν (eskenosen) — Tabernacled, pitched His tent among us. The same root as the Hebrew mishkan (the Tabernacle of Moses where the Shekinah glory dwelt). God's glory now tabernacled in human flesh.

"For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily."

— Colossians 2:9, KJV

All the fulness of the Godhead — every attribute, every dimension, every expression of the triune God — bodily, in Jesus of Nazareth. While Jesus slept in a boat on the Sea of Galilee, every atom in the universe was being held in existence by the same Person. While He washed His disciples' feet, He was simultaneously upholding all things by the word of His power.

"Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high."

— Hebrews 1:3, KJV

ἀπαύγασμα (apaugasma) — Brightness, radiance, the shining out of. The Son does not merely reflect God. He radiates God as the sun radiates light — an outshining from the same source, the same essence.

χαρακτήρ (charakter) — Express image — the exact stamp or impression, as a die stamps a coin. The Son is the precise, exact, complete representation of the Father's nature. To see Jesus is to see the Father with perfect fidelity.

Why does this matter for the God-Incarnate life? Because this is the One whose Spirit now lives inside every born-again believer. The Creator and Sustainer of the universe — the One who upholds all things by the word of His power, the One in whom all the fullness of the Godhead dwells bodily — has made your body His address. Let that land with full weight.

Jesus was God in actual human flesh. Not God appearing as a man. God becoming a man. The Creator of the universe in sandals. And this same God now lives inside you by the gift of His Holy Ghost.

Chapter Two: The New Human Species

C H A P T E R 2

2 Corinthians 5:17 · John 3:3-6 · Ephesians 2:10 · KJV

Adam was the first of his kind. When God formed him from the dust and breathed the neshamah of life into him, something appeared in the universe that had never existed before: a human being. Not an upgraded animal. A genuinely new category of creature bearing the image and likeness of God — capable of moral reasoning, creative expression, spiritual communion, and voluntary love. The first human species. Unprecedented. Unrepeatable by any natural process.

The born-again believer is the second human species. When the Spirit of God regenerates a human being through faith in Jesus Christ, something appears in the universe that has never existed before: a new creation. Not an improved version of the first human species. Not a morally reformed natural human. A genuinely new category of creature — carrying not merely the image of God as Adam did, but the life of God, the seed of God, the very Spirit of the risen Christ dwelling within.

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."

— 2 Corinthians 5:17, KJV

καινή κτίσις (kaine ktisis) — New creation — kainos (new in kind, qualitatively different, a superior and distinct order) plus ktisis (created thing). Not renovation of the old; the emergence of a new species of being.

"For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them."

— Ephesians 2:10, KJV

ποίημα (poiema) — Masterwork, poem, crafted thing. The word carries the sense of a craftsman's finest work, a piece expressing the full creativity and intention of its maker. You are God's crafted masterwork in Christ.

Just as God created an entirely new species when He formed Adam from dust and breathed life into him, God creates an entirely new species when He breathes His Spirit into the dead human spirit through faith in Jesus Christ. The first Adam was an unprecedented new kind of being. The born-again believer, shaped by the last Adam, is a second unprecedented new kind of being. Not fixed. Remade. Not improved. Re-speciated.

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God... That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

— John 3:3, 6, KJV

Flesh produces flesh. The first species produces itself through natural reproduction. Spirit produces spirit. The second species is produced by a supernatural birth — from above, from God, by the Holy Ghost. Two births produce two distinct natures and two distinct species of human being.

Just as God created an entirely new species when He formed Adam from dust and breathed life into him, God created an entirely new species when He breathes His Spirit into the dead human spirit. You are not fixed. You are remade. Not improved.

Re-specified.

Chapter Three: The New Birth — How the Seed of God Enters

C H A P T E R 3

1 Peter 1:23 · 1 John 3:9 · Ezekiel 36:26-27 · KJV

This chapter answers one of the most important questions a believer can ask. What exactly happens in the new birth? When does God's seed touch the human spirit? And is the human spirit alive or dead at that moment? The answer has profound consequences for how you understand what you are and how entirely your new life is the work of God rather than the work of man.

The Human Spirit Before Regeneration: Dead

"And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins."

— Ephesians 2:1, KJV

Paul's word is unambiguous: dead. The Greek nekros means genuinely without life — not sleeping, not suppressed, not merely sick. Spiritually dead. Separated from God, the source of all spiritual life, since the fall of Adam. The human being who has not been born again is physically alive, mentally conscious — but spiritually dead. The spirit exists but is cut off from the life of God.

νεκρός (nekros) — Dead — genuinely without life. Not weakened, not diminished, not sleeping. Dead. The identical word used for physical corpses applied here to the spiritual condition of every unregenerate human being.

"Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart."

— Ephesians 4:18, KJV

Alienated from the life of God. This is the condition of the unregenerate human spirit: cut off, darkened, separated from the very source of spiritual life. It is this dead, alienated spirit that the new birth addresses.

What God Promised to Do

"A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh. And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes."

— Ezekiel 36:26-27, KJV

Seven centuries before Pentecost, God promised the precise mechanics of the new birth. He would not patch the old heart. He would not repair the stony heart. He would remove it entirely and give a new one. He would put His own Spirit within the person. This is not improvement of the old nature. This is replacement by a new one — a divine transplant of the inner person.

The Seed: What It Is and How It Works

"Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever."

— 1 Peter 1:23, KJV

σπορᾶ (spora) — Seed — the reproductive unit carrying the nature and identity of the parent. The new birth is seeded by the incorruptible Word-seed of God. This seed does not enter a spirit that is already alive and improve it. It enters a spirit that is absolutely, completely dead — and the entering of it IS the regeneration. The spirit is not regenerated before the seed arrives. The seed arriving IS what regenerates it.

"Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God."

— 1 John 3:9, KJV

His seed remaineth in him. The Greek is sperma theou — the seed of God. John uses explicit biological language. The born-again believer carries within the regenerated spirit the sperma of God Himself — the divine genetic material, the heavenly nature, the life of God implanted. This is not a metaphor for religious influence. This is the language of reproduction applied to the spiritual birth.

σπέρμα Θεοῦ (sperma theou) — The seed of God. John uses the most direct biological language available. Just as a child carries the genetic material of the father, the born-again believer carries the spiritual DNA of the heavenly Father implanted by the Holy Ghost.

The Precise Sequence: Dead Spirit, Then Seed, Then Life

The question must be answered precisely: what is the sequence? The human spirit is dead. The seed of God comes. In what order do these things happen?

The answer from Scripture must be stated with absolute precision, because the confusion on this point is costly. The human spirit is dead before the seed arrives. Not weak. Not dormant. Not spiritually underdeveloped. Dead. And it remains dead right up until the moment the sperma of God — the incorruptible seed, the Word of God received in faith — enters it. At the moment of contact, and only at that moment, does regeneration begin. The spirit does not come alive and then receive the seed. The spirit receives the seed and that is what makes it alive. This is not a sequence of two events — first some regeneration, then the seed. It is one event: the seed enters the dead spirit and in the entering, the dead spirit lives. Regeneration is not the preparation for the seed. Regeneration is the result of the seed. The dead spirit is passive. The seed is active. God does everything.

"So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God."

— Romans 10:17, KJV

The Word of God is the vehicle that carries the seed. When a person hears the gospel, the incorruptible sperma of God makes contact with the dead human spirit. Let that be absolutely clear: the spirit is still dead at the moment of contact. The seed does not find a living spirit. It finds a dead one. And it is precisely because the spirit is dead — helpless, unable to respond, unable to contribute, unable to initiate anything — that the new birth is entirely the miracle of God and not the achievement of man. The dead spirit does not cooperate with its own resurrection. It receives it. The sperma of God enters the dead human spirit, and at the moment of that entry, the dead spirit is made alive. That is regeneration. That is the new birth. The seed entering the dead spirit is not the consequence of regeneration. It is the cause of it.

The Parallel to the Virgin Birth

The parallel between the new birth of believers and the Virgin Birth of Jesus is deliberate and glorious. In the Virgin Birth: Mary was the natural vessel. The Holy Ghost brought the divine seed. The result was the God-Man, Jesus Christ — fully divine, fully human. In the new birth: the human spirit is the vessel. It is dead. The Holy Ghost brings the divine seed — the Word of God received in faith. The result is the born-again believer — a new creation carrying in one person the nature of the new humanity and the indwelling life of God.

Jesus was conceived of the seed of God through the Holy Ghost, touching the egg of Mary in her womb, and from that union came the God-Man. The born-again believer is regenerated by the sperma of God through the Holy Ghost, entering the absolutely dead human spirit in the moment of faith, and from that union comes the new creation. Mary did not produce the divine life herself. Her womb received it. In the same way the dead human spirit does not produce spiritual life itself. It receives the seed of God — and that receiving, that entering of the seed into the dead spirit, is the moment regeneration begins. Not before. Not after. At that moment. The spirit was dead. The seed came. The spirit lived. This is the new birth.

God's sperma did not enter a living spirit and improve it. God's sperma entered a spirit that was absolutely, completely dead. The spirit was dead before the seed came.

The spirit was still dead when the seed arrived. And at the moment the seed of God entered that dead spirit — that is when regeneration began. Not before. Not after. At that moment. The entering of the seed IS the regeneration. The dead spirit did not cooperate with its own resurrection. It received life entirely by the act of God.

Chapter Four: The Firstborn Among Many Brothers

C H A P T E R 4

*Romans 8:29 · Hebrews 2:10-12 · Colossians 1:15-18 ·
KJV*

"For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren."

— Romans 8:29, KJV

The word "firstborn" is meaningless unless there are other born ones who follow. A firstborn without siblings is simply called an only child. Christ is named firstborn because there is a second-born, a third-born, a fourth-born — a whole family of brothers and sisters born of the same divine seed, bearing the same family DNA, shaped into the same image. The eternal purpose of God is not merely to save human beings from hell. It is to produce a family of new-creation beings who bear the image of the firstborn Son and share His inheritance forever.

πρωτότοκος (prototokos) — Firstborn — carrying three simultaneous meanings: priority in time (first to be born), supremacy in rank (the firstborn's preeminence in the family), and representative identity (the one who guarantees the inheritance for all who follow). Christ is the prototype of the new humanity.

σύμμορφους (symmorphous) — Conformed, having the same form (morphe) — shaped into the same essential nature and outward expression. The destination of predestination is conformity to the precise form of the risen, glorified Christ.

"For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings. For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren."

— Hebrews 2:10-11, KJV

ἕξ ἑνὸς πάντες (ex henos pantes) — All from one. The sanctifier (Christ) and the sanctified (believers) share one heavenly Father, one source, one family origin. The new human species is a genuine family sharing genuine spiritual DNA from a common Father.

He is not ashamed to call them brethren. The eternal Son of God, the Creator of galaxies, the One in whom all the fullness of the Godhead dwells bodily — He is not embarrassed to call you His brother, His sister. He is simply stating the biological and spiritual reality of the new family: same Father, same seed, same nature, same inheritance.

"He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature... the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence."

— Colossians 1:15, 18, KJV

If Christ is the firstborn, you are among the many born. Same Father. Same seed. Same spiritual DNA. Same family. Same inheritance. Christ is not ashamed to call you His brother. He is not embarrassed to call you His sister. You are family. You belong.

Chapter Five: The Death Barrier, Resurrection, and Ascension

C H A P T E R 5

Romans 8:11 · Ephesians 2:6 · Hebrews 2:14-15 · KJV

"Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage."

— Hebrews 2:14-15, KJV

The death barrier required the God-Man because only One simultaneously under death's jurisdiction as a human being and beyond death's ultimate authority as the Son of God could break it from the inside. Death had never encountered this combination. It closed around Christ with the confidence of a trap being sprung — and discovered it had swallowed the Author of Life.

"But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you."

— Romans 8:11, KJV

οἶκει (oikei) — Dwells, lives in, makes one's home in. From oikos (house). The Holy Ghost does not temporarily inhabit the believer. He has moved in permanently, as a resident, not a guest. Your body is His address.

The same Spirit — the identical divine Person, the same resurrection power that drove life back into the buried body of Jesus — dwelleth in you as a permanent resident. The power that broke the most absolute barrier in the cosmos is not a visitor. It has moved in.

"And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus."

— Ephesians 2:6, KJV

Made us sit — sunekathisen, past aorist tense. Already done. Completed. You are already seated in heavenly places in Christ Jesus. Not will be seated at some future date. Already seated. Your position is not pending. It is established. You fight from victory, not toward it.

Chapter Six: The Kingdom of God Is Within You

C H A P T E R 6

Luke 17:21 · John 14:16-20 · 1 Corinthians 6:17-19 · KJV

"Neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you."

— Luke 17:21, KJV

In every generation, voices arise that say: "Look here — Christ is in this movement, this building, this denomination." And other voices say: "No, He is over there — in that tradition, that city, that leader." Jesus dismantled this entire framework. The kingdom does not arrive as a visible, locatable, external event. It arrives as an internal reality: the King Himself taking up residence within the believing heart by the Holy Ghost.

ἐντὸς ὑμῶν (entos hymōn) — Within you, inside you — the interiority of the divine presence. Not found by traveling to the right location but by receiving the King into the inner person. The kingdom comes when the King comes in.

"But ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you."

— John 14:17, KJV

The Spirit moves from beside to within. Alongside became inside. External presence became internal habitation. The King entered His temple.

"At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you."

— John 14:20, KJV

This is the new consciousness of the new human species: I am in the Father. You are in me. I am in you. A triple mutual indwelling that catches the believer up into the inner life of the Trinity itself. You are in God, and God is in you.

"But he that is joined unto the Lord is one spirit."

— 1 Corinthians 6:17, KJV

"What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?"

— 1 Corinthians 6:19, KJV

Naos — the inner sanctuary, the Holy of Holies. The Shekinah glory that drove the priests to their faces in Solomon's temple now dwells in you. The living God has relocated from the Temple on Moriah to the temple of your body.

Chapter Seven: The Same Spirit That Raised Christ Lives in You

C H A P T E R 7

Romans 8 · 1 John 4:4 · KJV

"But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you."

— Romans 8:11, KJV

Resurrection power is not a theological concept. It is a Person with a permanent address inside you. Every opposition you face is confronted by the power that broke the most absolute barrier in the cosmos. The same Spirit. The same power. Already resident. Already working.

"Ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God."

— Romans 8:15-16, KJV

"And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ."

— Romans 8:17, KJV

συγκληρονόμοι (syntleronomoi) — Joint heirs, fellow-inheritors. What belongs to Christ by nature belongs to you by adoption and grace. His resurrection is your resurrection. His position is your position. His glory is your glory.

"For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

— Romans 8:38-39, KJV

"Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world."

— 1 John 4:4, KJV

The same power that raised Jesus from the dead is not standing outside the door. It has moved in. It has made its home in you. Greater is He that is in you than he that is in the world.

Chapter Eight: Filled with All the Fullness of God

C H A P T E R 8

Ephesians 3:14-21 · KJV

"For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, May be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God."

— Ephesians 3:14-19, KJV

Filled with all the fulness of God. The Greek pleroma is the same word Paul uses in Colossians 2:9 for the fullness that dwells in Christ bodily. The same fullness. Not a human-sized portion of divine presence. All. The fullness. Of God. This is God's declared intention for the new human species. Not a thimbleful. Total occupancy.

πληρωθῆτε εἰς πᾶν τὸ πλήρωμα τοῦ θεοῦ (plērōthēte eis pan to plērōma tou theou) — Be filled into all the fullness of God. Pan — all of it. To plērōma — the totality, the complete measure. Tou theou — of God Himself. The most expansive statement of divine intention for human beings in all of Scripture.

Four dimensions of Christ's love — breadth, length, depth, height — in ancient cosmology described the totality of the universe. The love of Christ is as vast as all that exists. And to know this love that passeth knowledge is the path to being filled with all the fullness of God.

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us."

— Ephesians 3:20, KJV

ὑπερεκπερισσοῦ (hyperekperissou) — Exceeding abundantly above — a triple-compounded Greek superlative Paul invented because no single word was large enough. The ceiling of God's action is set by the infinite power already at work within you.

Chapter Nine: Partakers of the Divine Nature

C H A P T E R 9

2 Peter 1:3-4 · 1 John 3:1-2 · KJV

"According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue: Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust."

— 2 Peter 1:3-4, KJV

Θείας κοινωνοί φύσεως (theias koinōnoi phuseōs)

— Partakers of the divine nature — theias (divine, of God), koinonoi (partakers, participants, those who hold something in common), physeos (nature, essential character). You are not an observer of the divine nature. You are a genuine participant in it.

Athanasius of Alexandria stated the logic of theosis with precision: "The Son of God became the Son of Man so that the sons of men might become the sons of God." Not God by nature — that remains His alone. But genuine participants in His nature by grace, adoption, and the indwelling Spirit. This is what the early church understood and what much of modern Christianity has forgotten.

"Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is."

— 1 John 3:1-2, KJV

Now are we the sons of God. Not eventually. Not conditionally. Now. The direction is certain: when He appears, we shall be like Him. The vision of Christ in His glory is the completion of the new creation process. To see Him is to become like Him fully. This is the ultimate destination of the new human species.

Chapter Ten: The Nine Gifts of the Holy Ghost

C H A P T E R 10

1 Corinthians 12:1-11 · KJV

The new human species is not merely a transformed moral creature. It is a supernaturally equipped vessel through which the living God operates in the world. The nine gifts of the Holy Ghost are the divine equipment of the new creation — the means by which the God who lives inside the believer makes Himself known through the believer to a desperate world. They are not optional extras for the especially spiritual. They are distributed by the Spirit to every member of the body as He sees fit.

"Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant... But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal. For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom; to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit; To another faith by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit; To another the working of miracles; to another prophecy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues."

— 1 Corinthians 12:1, 7-10, KJV

1. The Word of Wisdom

Logos sophias — not general wisdom developed through study and experience, but a specific, supernatural word of divine wisdom given by the Spirit for a particular situation. When the Spirit gives a word of wisdom, it cuts through confusion with the clarity of heaven, revealing the mind of God on a matter that natural reasoning cannot resolve.

2. The Word of Knowledge

Logos gnoseos — a supernatural revelation of facts about a situation, person, or circumstance that the believer could not have known by natural means. Jesus demonstrated this with the woman at the well (John 4:17-18): "Thou hast had five husbands." He knew what no natural observation could have revealed. This gift operates today when the Spirit gives specific, verifiable knowledge that opens hearts and confirms the presence of God.

3. Faith

Not saving faith — that is given to all believers. This is a specific, sovereign impartation of extraordinary faith for extraordinary situations. The faith that moves mountains (Matthew 17:20). The faith that prays and fire falls (1 Kings 18:38). The faith that commands the dead to rise (John 11:43). It is given by the Spirit, not manufactured by human will or religious effort.

4. Gifts of Healing

Note the plural: gifts (charismata) of healings (iamaton). Both words are plural, suggesting diverse gifts for diverse conditions. Jesus healed the sick, the blind, the lame, the leprous. These gifts operate today through the new human species. The God who does not change still heals through the body of Christ when the vessel is clean, the faith is real, and the glory returns to Him alone.

5. Working of Miracles

Energemata dynameon — the workings of powers. Miracles that go beyond healing: supernatural alterations of the natural order. Peter's shadow healing the sick (Acts 5:15). Paul's aprons bringing healing (Acts 19:12). Feeding multitudes. Calming storms. The same God works these miracles through His body today.

6. Prophecy

Propheteian — speaking the word of God under the direct inspiration of the Spirit, for edification, exhortation, and comfort (1 Corinthians 14:3). This gift was poured out at Pentecost on sons and daughters, old and young, servants and handmaids (Acts 2:17-18, fulfilling Joel 2:28-29). It is not reserved for a priestly class. It is the gift of the new human species in all its multicultural breadth.

7. Discerning of Spirits

Diakrisis pneumatōn — the ability to distinguish between the Spirit of God, the human spirit, and evil spirits. This gift is among the most critical in the God-Incarnate life. The counterfeit of divine power is real, sophisticated, and dangerous. As this book has warned repeatedly: the pursuit of supernatural gifts without holiness and without the fruit of the Spirit opens the vessel to deceiving spirits. The gift of discernment protects the body of Christ from this counterfeit. It must be honored, cultivated, and never despised.

8. Divers Kinds of Tongues

Gene glosson — kinds of tongues. The supernatural ability to speak in a language unknown to the speaker: either a human language not learned (as at Pentecost, Acts 2:4-8) or a heavenly prayer language (1 Corinthians 14:2 — "speaketh not unto men, but unto God"). Paul valued this gift greatly for private prayer (1 Corinthians 14:18). It is a gift of the Spirit given to build up the inner life of the believer and, with interpretation, the body of Christ.

9. Interpretation of Tongues

Hermeneia glosson — the supernatural rendering of a tongue into a language understood by the congregation. When tongues and interpretation operate together in public worship, Paul equates the result with prophecy (1 Corinthians 14:5): the congregation is edified as the Spirit speaks through two coordinated gifts.

The nine gifts are the divine equipment of the new human species. They belong to the body of Christ in its full multicultural breadth. They operate through holy vessels. Do not despise them. Do not counterfeit them. Receive them, steward them, and use them for the glory of the God who gave them.

Chapter Eleven: The Nine Fruit of the Holy Ghost

C H A P T E R 1 1

Galatians 5:22-23 · John 15:1-8 · KJV

If the nine gifts are the divine equipment of the new human species, the nine fruit of the Spirit are its divine character. The gifts show what God can do through the believer. The fruit shows what God is making the believer. And this must be stated without compromise: the gifts without the fruit produce a dangerous, unstable, counterproductive expression of religion. But you cannot have genuine fruit without the Spirit. Fruit is the infallible mark of authentic God-Incarnate living.

"But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, Meekness, temperance: against such there is no law."

— Galatians 5:22-23, KJV

Paul says fruit (singular) — not fruits (plural). These nine qualities are not nine separate achievements to be acquired one at a time. They are a single, integrated, organically unified expression of the life of the Spirit in the believer — one fruit with nine dimensions. They grow together as the Spirit fills and transforms the vessel.

"I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing."

— John 15:5, KJV

The fruit does not come from striving. It comes from abiding. The branch simply remains connected, draws the life of the vine, and fruit is the inevitable result. These nine fruit are the natural overflow of a life in genuine, sustained, moment-by-moment union with the risen Christ.

1. Love — Agape

"And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us."

— Romans 5:5, KJV

ἀγάπη (agapē) — The love of God — unconditional, self-giving, other-centered, not based on the worthiness of the object. Not primarily an emotion but a commitment of the will rooted in the nature of God and imparted by the Holy Ghost.

Agape is not sentiment. It is not the warmth that rises and falls with circumstances. It is the self-giving, unconditional, other-centered love that characterizes the very nature of God (1 John 4:8). It loves the unlovable, forgives the unforgivable, blesses those who curse, and prays for those who persecute. It is the first fruit because it is the nature of the God who produces all the rest.

2. Joy — Chara

Not happiness, which depends on circumstances. Joy is the deep, settled, inward gladness that comes from the presence and promises of God, persisting through suffering, loss, and trial. "The joy of the LORD is your strength" (Nehemiah 8:10). Paul writes from prison: "Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice" (Philippians 4:4). Peter speaks of "joy unspeakable and full of glory" (1 Peter 1:8). Joy belongs to the God-Incarnate life regardless of external conditions.

3. Peace — Eirene

The Greek eirene corresponds to the Hebrew shalom — wholeness, completeness, nothing missing, nothing broken. "The peace of God, which passeth all understanding" (Philippians 4:7) is not the absence of conflict but the presence of God in the midst of it. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you" (John 14:27). It surpasses all human comprehension because it comes from a Person, not from circumstances.

4. Longsuffering — Makrothumia μακροθυμία (makrothumia) — Longsuffering — long-tempered. Makros (long) + thumos (passion, temper).

The capacity to hold the passion long without releasing it in destructive ways. The opposite of short-tempered.

The capacity to endure difficulty, mistreatment, frustration, and delay without losing heart, without exploding in anger, without abandoning commitment. The old Adam retaliates, grows bitter, gives up under pressure. The new creation in Christ endures "as seeing him who is invisible" (Hebrews 11:27), sustained by the Spirit of the One who "endured the cross, despising the shame" (Hebrews 12:2).

5. Gentleness — Chrestotes

Moral goodness expressed in kindness, graciousness, and tender benevolence toward others. Jesus said: "Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls" (Matthew 11:29). The gentleness of Christ with the woman caught in adultery, with the children, with the broken and desperate — tender, kind, welcoming. This is the gentleness the Spirit produces in the new human species at all times.

6. Goodness — Agathosune

Moral goodness in action — uprightness of character expressing itself in righteous deeds. Not merely the absence of evil but the positive, active presence of goodness in behavior, relationships, and decisions. It is goodness that sometimes rebukes: Jesus drove the money-changers from the temple in an act of agathosune. Goodness is not passive. It stands for the right even when it is costly.

7. Faith — Pistis (as Faithfulness)

In the context of the fruit of the Spirit, pistis is faithfulness — reliability, trustworthiness, consistent fidelity to commitments made. The God-Incarnate being is a person whose word can be trusted, whose commitments are kept, who is the same person in private as in public, on Monday as on Sunday, in the small things as in the large. Faithfulness is the character quality that makes the gifts genuinely useful to the body of Christ.

8. Meekness — Praotes

πραύτης (prautēs) — Meekness — the quality of the trained war horse: immense strength under perfect control. Not weakness but submitted power. In the new human species, meekness is the disposition of the one who knows they carry infinite power within them and chooses to submit every ounce of it to the will of God.

Praotes is not weakness. In Greek literature it described a mighty horse that had been trained and bridled — immense power under perfect control. Moses was the meekest man on earth (Numbers 12:3) — the same Moses who faced down Pharaoh and parted the Red Sea. In the new human species, meekness is the disposition that says with Jesus: "Not my will, but thine, be done" (Luke 22:42).

9. Temperance — Enkrateia ἐγκράτεια (enkrateia) — Self-control, self-mastery. En (in, within) + kratos (strength, power). The strength that rules from within. The governance of the inner life by the Spirit rather than by appetite.

Self-control: mastery over appetites, desires, passions, and impulses rather than being governed by them. Without enkrateia, love becomes sentimentality, joy becomes hedonism, peace becomes passivity, and every gift becomes a plaything of the flesh. The God-Incarnate being is free from the mastery of food, sexual desire, anger, fear, greed, and every appetite of the natural man. This freedom is the final fruit that guards all the rest.

The nine fruit of the Spirit are not the curriculum of a spiritual improvement program. They are the character of the God who lives inside you, breaking through the surface of your daily life. Abide in the vine. Stay connected. The fruit will come. It must come. It is the nature of the God who inhabits you.

Chapter Twelve: Gifts and Fruit Together — The Complete Expression

C H A P T E R 1 2

1 Corinthians 13 · Acts 6:8 · KJV

The nine gifts and the nine fruit must never be separated. The gifts without the fruit produce a dangerous, unstable, counterproductive expression of religion. The fruit without the gifts produces a beautiful but limited Christianity that stops short of the full expression of Christ's life through His body. Together, they describe the complete God-Incarnate being: supernaturally gifted and genuinely Christlike.

"And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing."

— 1 Corinthians 13:2, KJV

Prophecy, knowledge, mountain-moving faith — without love, they profit nothing. Paul's language is absolute: nothing. Not less than it could be. Nothing. The gifts without the fruit of love are not incomplete expressions of the Christian life. They are void of eternal value. They may produce impressive religious spectacle. But without love they are, before God, nothing.

Stephen is the New Testament's great example of the combined life: full of faith and power, working great wonders and miracles (Acts 6:8) — and when he was stoned to death, his last words were "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge" (Acts 7:60) — love, meekness, and forgiveness in full bloom under the most extreme pressure. The gifts and the fruit, together, in one person, producing one complete expression of Christ.

The new human species exemplifies both at all times. Not gifts on Sunday and fruit occasionally. Not fruit in theory and gifts in performance. Both, always, together, as the integrated expression of the God who inhabits the vessel. This is the calling. This is the standard. This is what God-Incarnate living looks like when it is real.

Chapter Thirteen: The Absolute Necessity of Holy Living

C H A P T E R 13

1 Peter 1:15-16 · Hebrews 12:14 · 2 Timothy 3:5 · KJV

Everything this book has explored stands or falls on one non-negotiable foundation: holiness. The God-Incarnate life is not available on any other terms. Without holiness no man shall see the Lord — not merely in eternity, but in the present, daily, experiential sense of seeing, knowing, and walking with God.

"But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy."

— 1 Peter 1:15-16, KJV

קָדוֹשׁ (qadosh) — Holy — set apart, separated, consecrated, distinct. The root meaning is to be cut off from the common and devoted entirely to the sacred. God is qadosh absolutely: wholly other, wholly apart from all evil, wholly devoted to His own nature of love and righteousness.

"Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord."

— Hebrews 12:14, KJV

Without holiness — choris hagasmos — no man shall see the Lord. The pursuit of God and the pursuit of holiness are not two separate pursuits. They are one.

To pursue God genuinely is to pursue what He is. And what He is, is holy.

"Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away."

— 2 Timothy 3:5, KJV

Form of godliness without power. This is the most dangerous spiritual condition described in Scripture. Religious activity, spiritual language, and apparent anointing disconnected from genuine holiness, genuine submission to Christ, and genuine transformation of character. Paul's instruction is radical: from such turn away.

The pursuit of spiritual power, gifts, and supernatural experience apart from a clean, holy, sanctified life does not produce more of God. It opens the vessel to the counterfeit. The same vessel designed to carry the Holy Ghost, if not maintained in holiness and submitted in humility, becomes a vessel that attracts and hosts deceiving spirits.

"For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light."

— 2 Corinthians 11:13-14, KJV

There is no shortcut into the God-Incarnate life that bypasses the holy life. Anyone who seeks the power without the purity, the gifts without the fruit, the glory without the humility, does not receive more of God. They open themselves to the most dangerous counterfeit in the spiritual universe.

Chapter Fourteen: The Sanctified Life in Practice

C H A P T E R 14

2 Corinthians 7:1 · Romans 12:1-2 · Titus 2:11-14 · KJV

"Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God."

— 2 Corinthians 7:1, KJV

Cleanse ourselves. The responsibility belongs to the believer, empowered by the Spirit. God provides the grace, the blood of Christ for cleansing, and the Spirit for empowerment. The believer must exercise the will to pursue the clean life, to flee the things that defile body and spirit, and to choose the path of holiness day by day.

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind."

— Romans 12:1-2, KJV

A living sacrifice. The sanctified life is one of continual, voluntary self-offering — presenting the body, the mind, the will, the appetites, the ambitions to God as a holy offering. Be ye transformed — metamorphoo — by the renewing of the mind. Not positive thinking. Scriptural thinking. Not self-affirmation. Spirit-revealed identity. The mind rebuilt from the foundation by the Word of God.

"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world... Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works."

— Titus 2:11-12, 14, KJV

Grace teaches. The Greek is paideuo — to discipline, to instruct, to form character through training. The grace of God is not passive permission for moral mediocrity. It is an active, forming power that shapes the God-Incarnate being into a holy, sober, righteous life. The destination: a purified people zealous — burning with eager desire — for goodness.

Chapter Fifteen: One New Man — The Multicultural Body of Christ

C H A P T E R 1 5

Ephesians 2:14-16 · Galatians 3:28 · Revelation 7:9 · KJV

The new human species is the most diverse family in the history of the cosmos. It is gathered from every nation, every tribe, every tongue, every people group, every culture, every background, every skin color, every language, every continent. And in Christ, all of these become one. Not one by erasing their distinctives. One by being incorporated into a single new identity that is larger, deeper, and more glorious than any ethnic or cultural identity ever was.

IN CHRIST THERE IS NO DIVISION
WHATSOEVER. *No racial division. No ethnic hierarchy. No cultural superiority. One new man.
One new species. One body. One Lord. One faith.
One baptism.

There is a White Christian. There is a Black Christian. There is a Chinese Christian. There is an Indian Christian. There is a Hispanic Christian. There is a Mexican Christian. There is a Portuguese Christian. There is a Filipino Christian. There is a Korean Christian. There is a Nigerian Christian. There is a Native American Christian. There is a Russian Christian. There is an Arab Christian. There is an Irish Christian. There is a Brazilian Christian. And the truth of the matter is this: in Christ, every one of them — every skin color, every culture, every language, every background — is one new man. One new creation. One new human species. Called the Christ-natured species. Loved with the same love. Filled with the same Spirit. Bearing the same image. Destined for the same glory.

"For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us; Having abolished in his flesh the enmity... for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace; And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby."

— Ephesians 2:14-16, KJV

One new man — kainon anthropon — a new kind of human being that transcends every division of the old humanity. The wall of partition broken down by the body of Christ. The enmity — the racial, cultural, and ethnic hostility that divides the first human species — slain at the cross. In the Christ-natured species, there is no place for it.

"There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus."

— Galatians 3:28, KJV

Neither Jew nor Greek — the deepest ethnic and religious division of the ancient world, abolished in Christ. Neither bond nor free — the deepest social division, abolished. All one. All equal. All beloved. All filled. All heirs. The new human species loves and cherishes every human being — whether in Christ or not yet in Christ — because that is the nature of the God who lives inside us.

"After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands."

— Revelation 7:9, KJV

This is where the Christ-natured species is going. Every nation. Every kindred. Every people. Every tongue. Standing together before the throne. Clothed in the same righteousness. Worshipping the same Lamb. The most diverse gathering in the history of the cosmos — and the most unified.

A Black Christian, a White Christian, a Chinese Christian, a Mexican Christian, a Filipino Christian, an Indian Christian — we are all one new man in Christ. One new creation. One new species. The Christ-natured species. And we love and cherish every human being, whether in Christ or not yet in Christ, because that is the nature of the God who lives inside us.

Chapter Sixteen: Humility — The Foundation of All

C H A P T E R 1 6

Isaiah 57:15 · Philipians 2:5-8 · Matthew 11:29 · KJV

Everything in this book — the God-Incarnate life, the gifts, the fruit, the divine DNA, the new human species, the fullness of God — has a foundation. And that foundation is humility. Without humility, every other truth in this book becomes a tool of pride and therefore an invitation to deception. With humility, every truth in this book finds its proper home in the soul that is submitted to the Head.

Let it be absolutely clear: Christ is the Head. We are the body. He directs. He is the control center, the authority, the source of everything. Every blessing, every gift, every measure of the divine nature that flows to the members of the body flows from and through Him. We carry the divine nature by grace, not by nature. We are God-Incarnate beings by His indwelling, not by our own greatness. Every truth in this book must be held in the open hand of humility or it will corrupt the one who holds it.

"For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones."

— Isaiah 57:15, KJV

שָׁפָל (shaphal) — Low, humble, brought low. God brings low the proud and lifts up the humble. To be shaphal before God is to occupy the position of total dependence and submission.

דָּכָא (dak'e) — Crushed, contrite, broken in spirit. The specific heart God inhabits and revives. Psalm 51:17: "A broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise."

The high and lofty One who inhabits eternity dwells with the contrite and humble spirit. Not the impressive spirit. Not the powerful spirit. Not the gifted spirit. The humble spirit. The higher the revelation of who you are in Christ, the deeper the humility must be that bears it.

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross."

— Philippians 2:5-8, KJV

ἐκένωσεν (ekenosen) — He emptied Himself, made Himself of no reputation. The voluntary self-emptying of the Son of God. Not ceasing to be God but relinquishing the independent use of divine prerogatives. The supreme act of humility in history — and the pattern for every member of His body.

Christ is the Head. We are the body. He directs. We follow. He is the source. We are the vessel. Every gift we carry came from Him. Every fruit we bear grows from union with Him. Every measure of the divine nature we possess was granted, not earned.

Stay humble. Stay broken. Stay submitted.
The high and lofty One inhabits the contrite and humble spirit.

Chapter Seventeen: The Longing Soul

C H A P T E R 17

Psalm 42 · Psalm 84 · Jeremiah 29:13 · KJV

All the theology in this book exists to produce one thing in the soul: longing. A deep, aching, unquenchable longing for God. Not for His benefits. Not for His power. Not for the experience of the supernatural. For Him. For the Person. For the presence of the Living God who has made His home inside you and calls you His child, His brother, His sister, His temple, His beloved.

"As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God. My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God: when shall I come and appear before God?"

— Psalm 42:1-2, KJV

עָרַג ('arāg) — Pant, long with desperate desire. The word captures physical, urgent, uncontrollable desire — the way a dying creature longs for the one thing that will revive it. The Psalmist uses this for the soul's longing for God.

As the hart panteth — the deer, exhausted and dehydrated, driven by the most primal physical need to find water — so panteth my soul after thee, O God. Not after knowledge about God. Not after the gifts of God. After God Himself. The living God. The One who is the source of all life, all joy, all peace, all love, all fullness.

"My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the LORD: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God."

— Psalm 84:2, KJV

Longeth, yea, even fainteth. The longing is so intense that the soul grows faint under its weight. Heart and flesh — the whole person, spiritual and physical — crying out for the living God. This is the prayer of the God-Incarnate being who has grasped what they are: a vessel in whom the living God already dwells, pressing ever deeper into the fullness of the One who has already moved in.

"And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart."

— Jeremiah 29:13, KJV

דַּרְשׁתֶּם (drashtēm) — You shall search, seek, inquire diligently. The Hebrew darash carries the sense of thorough investigation, persistent inquiry, diligent pursuit that does not give up until it has found. God guarantees the outcome of this quality of search: you will find Me.

When ye shall search for me with all your heart. Not part of your heart. Not the devotional portion while the rest is elsewhere. All your heart. The whole person. The undivided, undistracted, full-commitment pursuit of God. And the promise is absolute: search with all your heart and you will find. Not might find. Will find.

"As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God." This longing is the truest thing about you. Not your failures. Not your gifts. Not your knowledge. The longing. Feed it. Never let it go.

Chapter Eighteen: How Far Can You Really Go?

C H A P T E R 1 8

The Final Answer · The Invitation · 2 Corinthians 3:18 · KJV

We return, one final time, to the question with which this book began. How far can a human being actually go in God?

The answer is: as far as God Himself goes. Because God Himself has come to live inside you.

"But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

— 2 Corinthians 3:18, KJV

Changed — metamorphoo — from glory to glory. The same root as the Transfiguration. The God-Incarnate life is not a static attainment. It is an ever-moving, ever-deepening, ever-expanding transformation from one level of glory to the next. Not a ceiling but a direction. Not a destination but a trajectory that stretches into eternity.

The new human species — the Christ-natured species, born of divine seed, carrying the DNA of heaven, gifted with nine supernatural gifts, bearing nine supernatural fruit, sealed with the Holy Ghost of promise, seated in heavenly places, destined for conformity to the image of the firstborn Son — this species does not live small. It does not settle for the form without the power. It does not content itself with knowledge about God when the God it has knowledge of lives inside it.

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, Unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen."

— Ephesians 3:20-21, KJV

The power that worketh in us. Not the power that will one day arrive. Already working. Already resident. The question is only whether you will give it more room.

Go. Press in. Stay humble. Stay holy. Stay filled. Stay connected to the vine. Bear the fruit. Exercise the gifts. Love every member of the body regardless of culture or background. Long for God with everything you have. And never stop. Because from glory to glory is a journey that never ends.

This is what you are. This is what you were made for. This is the life that is truly life. Do not waste it.

— — —

"The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen."

— 2 Corinthians 13:14, KJV

Chapter Nineteen: Spirit, Soul, and Body — The Tripartite Being

Chapter 19 · Hebrews 4:12 · 1 Thessalonians 5:23 · Genesis 2:7 · KJV

— — —

Before we can fully understand what happens in the new birth, we must understand what we are. Not who we are — but what. What kind of being is a human being? What are the constituent parts? How do they relate to each other? How does each part relate to God? How does each part relate to the earth? And when God says in His Word that He desires our whole spirit, soul, and body to be sanctified, preserved, and blameless — what exactly is He referring to?

The answer is that a human being is a tripartite being. Three-in-one. Not three separate beings sharing a body, but one unified person consisting of three distinct dimensions: spirit, soul, and body. Each has a distinct nature, a distinct function, a distinct relationship to God and to the material world, and a distinct experience of the new birth.

"For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discernor of the thoughts and intents of the heart."

— Hebrews 4:12, KJV

The fact that the Word of God can divide between soul and spirit tells us two things immediately. First, soul and spirit are distinct — they are not the same thing, even though they are so closely intertwined that only the Word of God is sharp enough to separate them. Second, the division is real — it is possible to discern, through the Word, what originates in the spirit and what originates in the soul. This distinction is not merely academic. It is one of the most practically important distinctions in the entire Christian life.

"And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ."

— 1 Thessalonians 5:23, KJV

Paul prays for the whole person — spirit, soul, and body — to be preserved blameless. Three distinct elements named in sequence. Three distinct dimensions of the one human person that the God of peace desires to sanctify wholly. Let us examine each one.

The Body — The Earth Suit

The body is the outermost dimension of the human person. It is the physical, biological, material vessel through which the human being interfaces with the created, material world. It was formed from the dust of the ground (Genesis 2:7) and it returns to dust at death (Genesis 3:19). It has five senses — sight, hearing, taste, touch, and smell — by which it gathers information from the physical environment. It has appetites — for food, water, rest, and reproduction — that are not sinful in themselves but become sinful when they operate outside the authority of the Spirit and the Word.

The body is the instrument of the human being in the earth. It is through the body that we act in the physical world, that we serve others, that we worship in a physical gathering, that we lay hands on the sick, that we open our mouths and speak the Word. The body is not evil. Paul says in Romans 12:1 to present your body as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God. It is possible to present a holy body because the body itself is not the source of sin — the unregenerate nature is. The body is the vessel.

The Body Before Regeneration

Before the new birth, the body is alive physically but is subject to the fallen nature, the appetites of the flesh, and ultimately to death. The body does not know God. It cannot pray. It cannot worship in spirit. It responds to the physical world and to the desires of the fallen nature. Paul describes the body in this condition as subject to the "law of sin which is in my members" (Romans 7:23).

The Body After Regeneration

After the new birth, the body becomes the temple of the Holy Ghost (1 Corinthians 6:19). The same physical body, now indwelt by the Spirit of God, becomes a vessel of divine expression. The hands that once served sin now serve God. The mouth that once spoke death now speaks life. The feet that once walked in darkness now carry the gospel. The body is not yet glorified — it still gets sick, still ages, still dies. But it carries within it the earnest of glory, and at the resurrection it will be transformed into the likeness of Christ's glorious body (Philippians 3:21).

The body grows in God through: physical discipline (1 Corinthians 9:27), presenting it daily as a sacrifice (Romans 12:1), keeping it sexually pure (1 Corinthians 6:18-20), and caring for it as the vessel of the Holy Ghost — not with vanity, but with stewardship.

The Soul — The Seat of Personality

The soul is the middle dimension of the human person. It is the seat of personality, emotion, will, intellect, memory, and imagination. When the Bible says "nephesh" in Hebrew — the word translated "soul" in Genesis 2:7 — it refers to this living, conscious, personal self: the "I" that thinks, feels, chooses, remembers, dreams, loves, fears, hopes, and desires.

The soul interfaces with both the body and the spirit. On one side, it receives input from the body through the five senses and through the physical appetites. On the other side, it is designed to receive input from the spirit, which in turn receives from God. In the unfallen, fully redeemed human being, the flow is: God → Spirit → Soul → Body. The spirit governs the soul. The soul governs the body. Everything flows from the inside out, from the eternal toward the temporal.

The Soul Before Regeneration

Before the new birth, the soul is alive and fully functional. The unregenerate person thinks, feels, loves, creates, chooses, and reasons. This is why unsaved people can be brilliant, artistic, compassionate, and morally admirable by human standards. The soul is alive. But without a living spirit to connect it to God, the soul receives its primary input from the body and from the world. The flow is reversed: Body → Soul → Spirit (dead). The body and the world drive the soul, and the dead spirit has no governing voice.

This is the condition Paul describes in 1 Corinthians 2:14: "But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned." The word translated "natural man" is psuchikos — the soulish man, the man who is governed by the soul alone, without the regenerated spirit. He cannot receive spiritual things not because his intellect is defective but because his spirit is dead. The receiving organ for spiritual truth is not the mind. It is the spirit. And the dead spirit cannot receive.

The Soul After Regeneration

After the new birth, the soul is progressively renewed. Romans 12:2 says: "be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind." The Greek is metamorphoo — transformed, transfigured — by the anakainosis of the nous: the renewal of the mind. The soul is not instantly perfected at the new birth. The spirit is instantly regenerated. The body awaits final glorification. But the soul — the mind, the will, the emotions, the imagination — is in a process of ongoing transformation as it is progressively aligned with the Word of God and the leading of the regenerated spirit.

This is why two people can be genuinely born again and yet have very different levels of emotional maturity, intellectual understanding of Scripture, and strength of will. Their spirits are equally regenerated. But their souls are at different stages of renewal. The soul grows in God through: the renewing of the mind by the Word (Romans 12:2), the discipline of the will in submission to the Spirit (Galatians 5:16), the healing of the emotions through the love of God (Romans 5:5), and the sanctification of the imagination through holy meditation (Philippians 4:8).

The Spirit — The God-Contact Organ

The spirit is the innermost dimension of the human person. It is the deepest, most essential, most eternal part of the human being. It is the part that was made for direct communion with God, because God is Spirit (John 4:24), and it is in the spirit that God-to-human communication, worship, and union take place. The spirit is the organ by which the human being knows God — not merely knows about God, but knows God.

The spirit of the human being is the part that receives the sperma of God in the new birth. It is the part that the Holy Ghost regenerates. It is the part that is joined to the Lord and becomes one spirit with Him (1 Corinthians 6:17). It is the innermost sanctuary, the Holy of Holies of the human person, where the living God takes up residence.

The Spirit Before Regeneration: Dead

This is the most critical point in the entire theology of the new birth, and it cannot be overstated. Before regeneration, the human spirit exists — but it is dead. The Greek word is nekros (Ephesians 2:1). Not weakened. Not dormant. Not unconscious. Dead. Spiritually separated from God, the source of all spiritual life, since the fall of Adam.

The human being before regeneration is therefore a two-functioning, one-dead tripartite being. The body functions — it lives, breathes, senses, and acts in the physical world. The soul functions — it thinks, feels, chooses, creates, and relates to other human beings. But the spirit is dead, cut off from God, unable to receive from God, unable to worship God in spirit and in truth, unable to know God experientially. The lights are off in the innermost room.

This is why the unregenerate person can be fully alive physically and psychologically — brilliant, creative, emotionally rich, morally impressive — and yet be entirely blind to the things of God. It is not an intellectual failure. It is a spiritual death. The receiving organ is not functioning. The antenna is broken. The line is cut.

The Spirit After Regeneration: Alive

At the moment of regeneration, the sperma of God — the incorruptible seed of the Word, carried by the Holy Ghost — enters the dead human spirit. And at that moment, and only at that moment, the dead spirit is raised to life. Regeneration does not begin before the seed arrives. The seed arriving is the regeneration. The dead spirit receives life from the outside, entirely by the act of God, exactly as a dead man receives resurrection — not by his own effort but by the power of Another.

From that moment, the spirit is alive. It can now receive from God. It can worship in spirit and in truth (John 4:24). It can know the deep things of God (1 Corinthians 2:10). It is joined to the Lord and is one spirit with Him (1 Corinthians 6:17). It bears the sperma theou — the seed of God — which remains in it (1 John 3:9). And the Holy Ghost, who produced the new birth, now takes up permanent residence within it.

The spirit grows in God through: prayer in the Spirit (Jude 1:20), worship in spirit and truth (John 4:23-24), meditating on the Word (Psalm 1:2-3), fasting (Matthew 6:16-18), fellowship with the body of Christ (Hebrews 10:25), and the baptism of the Holy Ghost which clothes and empowers the regenerated spirit for supernatural service (Acts 1:8, 2:4).

How the Three Interact: The Proper Order

God designed the three dimensions of the human person to operate in a specific order of authority and influence. Understanding this order is essential for understanding both the nature of sin and the nature of sanctification.

The designed order is: Spirit → Soul → Body. The spirit, connected to God, governs and informs the soul. The soul, governed by the spirit, governs and directs the body. Everything flows from the inside out, from the eternal to the temporal, from the divine to the earthly. This is the order of the fully sanctified, spirit-led life.

The fallen order is: Body → Soul → Spirit (dead). The body, with its physical appetites and sensory input from the world, drives the soul. The soul, governed by the body and the world rather than by the spirit, is tossed about by emotion, circumstance, and desire. And the dead spirit has no voice. This is the condition of every unregenerate human being, and the condition the new birth reverses.

After the new birth, the process of sanctification is precisely the process of restoring the designed order. The regenerated spirit is fully alive. But the soul — years of habits, thought patterns, emotional wounds, and worldly programming — does not instantly align. And the body — with its appetites and its ingrained responses — continues to resist. Sanctification is the progressive victory of the spirit-governed life over the body-governed and world-governed life. It is, as Paul describes in Romans 8:13, putting to death the deeds of the body by the Spirit.

The Three and Their Relationships

With God

The spirit communes with God. It is the point of contact, the organ of divine reception, the innermost sanctuary where the living God dwells. "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24). The soul knows about God through the Word and through the testimony of the spirit. The body expresses worship in the physical realm — raised hands, bent knees, spoken praise, fasting, holy living.

With the Earth

The body interfaces with the earth. It was formed from the earth, lives on the earth, and will return to the earth. It is the instrument by which the spirit-soul-body unity acts in the material world — serves, builds, creates, heals, prays, speaks, and ministers. The soul processes the earthly experience emotionally and intellectually. The spirit anchors the person in the eternal even while fully engaged in the temporal.

With Other Human Beings

The soul is the primary organ of human relationship. We connect with each other through personality, emotion, communication, memory, and shared experience — all soul functions. But the deepest human connection is spirit-to-spirit: the koinonia — the fellowship, the shared participation in the life of God — that only born-again believers can experience with each other (1 John 1:3-4). This is why Paul says in 2 Corinthians 6:14 not to be unequally yoked with unbelievers: not out of contempt for the unsaved, but because the deepest dimension of human fellowship — spirit-to-spirit communion in God — requires both persons to have a living spirit.

You are a spirit. You have a soul. You live in a body. Your spirit communes with God. Your soul processes life. Your body engages the earth. The new birth resurrects your spirit. Sanctification renews your soul. Glorification will transform your body. God wants your whole person — spirit, soul, and body — blameless and preserved.

Chapter 19 — Questions for Reflection and Discussion

Spirit, Soul, and Body — The Tripartite Being

- 1. Before regeneration: the body is alive, the soul is alive and functioning, but the spirit is dead. Looking back at your pre-salvation life, can you identify the difference between your soul's activity and your spirit's absence? What was missing that you could not name at the time?

- 2. After regeneration: the spirit is instantly alive, the soul is in process of renewal, the body awaits glorification. Which dimension of your tripartite being currently receives the most intentional investment? Which receives the least? What needs to change?

- 3. The designed order is Spirit leads Soul leads Body. The fallen order is Body drives Soul while Spirit lies dead. In your daily life right now — honestly — which order is actually operating? Where does your body or your soul drive you rather than your spirit leading?

Chapter Twenty: Thirty Days of Pressing In

A Daily Devotional for the God-Incarnate Being

Chapter 20 — Questions for Reflection and Discussion

Thirty Days of Pressing In

- 1. After thirty days of pressing in: what specific change do you notice in your spirit, your soul, your body? Be concrete — not theological, experiential. What is actually different?
- 2. Which week produced the most significant shift in you — Who You Are in Christ, the Holy Ghost and His Gifts, Fruit and Holiness, or Pressing Into More? What was the specific moment that landed hardest?
- 3. Name the one daily discipline from this devotional that you will commit to continuing beyond the thirty days. Write it here. Tell someone. Accountability is not weakness. It is wisdom.

How to Get More of God — and More of God into Your Spirit

— — —

The theology in this book is not meant to remain theology. It is meant to become experience. The thirty devotionals that follow are designed to take the truths of God-Incarnate Beings from your mind into your daily life — one day at a time, one discipline at a time, one prayer at a time.

Each day includes a key scripture, a brief meditation on how that truth applies to your life right now, and a prayer to speak aloud. Do not simply read the prayer. Say it out loud. Your body hears your words. Your spirit is activated by the Word spoken in faith. The enemy hears your declaration. Speak it.

Thirty days of pressing in. Begin today.

— — —

WEEK ONE: WHO YOU ARE IN CHRIST

— — —

DAY 1 — You Are a New Creation

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature."

— 2 Corinthians 5:17 (KJV)

You did not get an upgrade today. You got a new species. The person who existed before Christ — that species is gone. What stands in your place is a kaine ktisis — new in kind, different in order, carrying the life of God. Spend five minutes today simply saying out loud: I am a new creation in Christ. Not I will be. Not I am trying to become. I am.

Father, let the reality of what I am in Christ be more real to me today than anything I see, feel, or experience in the natural. I am Your new creation. I receive that fully. Amen.

DAY 2 — Your Spirit Is Alive

"And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins."

— Ephesians 2:1 (KJV)

Before the new birth, your spirit was dead. Today it is alive. Resurrection power touched the innermost room of your being and the lights came on. The organ that was cut off from God is now connected. You can receive from Him. You can hear Him. You can know Him — not merely know about Him. Today, sit in quiet and simply receive. Let your spirit be alive to God.

Holy Ghost, I open the innermost room. I am alive to God. Speak to my spirit today. I am listening.

DAY 3 — God Carries the Sperma Theou — His Seed Is In You

"His seed remaineth in him."

— 1 John 3:9 (KJV)

You carry the sperma of God in your regenerated spirit. This is not a metaphor. This is the language of reproduction applied to the spiritual birth. The divine DNA of heaven is in you. The same seed that produced the God-Man Jesus Christ has produced the new creation in you. You are not a copy of Adam improved. You are a child of God born.

Father, I receive the full reality of what it means to carry Your seed. Let the divine nature that is in me grow, expand, and express itself through every dimension of my life today.

DAY 4 — The Holy Ghost Lives In You

"What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you?"

— 1 Corinthians 6:19 (KJV)

The Holy Ghost is a Person — not a force, not an energy, not an it. He is the third Person of the triune God. He has made your body His permanent address. Not a temporary visit. A permanent residency. Today, honor Him as a Person. Speak to Him. Listen for Him. Yield to Him. He is already there.

Holy Ghost, I acknowledge You as a Person living inside me. I yield my body, my mind, my will, and my words to You today. Have Your way in me.

DAY 5 — You Are Seated in Heavenly Places

"And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus."

— Ephesians 2:6 (KJV)

Past tense. Already done. Your spiritual position right now — while you read this, while you face your day — is seated with Christ in heavenly places. Above principalities. Above powers. Above every name. You do not fight toward victory. You fight from victory. Today, refuse to live beneath your position.

Father, I take my seat in heavenly places by faith today. I refuse to live beneath my position. I am in Christ, and in Christ I am above everything that tries to come against me.

DAY 6 — Christ Is Not Ashamed to Call You Brother

"He is not ashamed to call them brethren."

— Hebrews 2:11 (KJV)

The Creator of the universe calls you family. Not metaphorically. Not sentimentally. Biologically and spiritually: same Father, same seed, same divine DNA, same family. Let that settle in your spirit today. You are not a servant hoping for access. You are a son, a daughter, a sibling of the firstborn Son. You belong at the table.

Father, let me live today as a genuine child of the King — not with arrogance, but with the quiet, humble confidence of someone who knows they belong.

DAY 7 — The Kingdom Is Within You

"The kingdom of God is within you."

— Luke 17:21 (KJV)

Stop looking for the kingdom out there. Stop waiting for the next conference, the next revival, the next service. The King has moved in. The kingdom arrived the moment He arrived. Everything you have been searching for in the outside world is already resident inside you. Today, press inward.

Father, I stop searching out there for what You have already placed within me. I press into Your kingdom within today. Let Your rule be complete in my spirit, soul, and body.

WEEK TWO: THE HOLY GHOST AND HIS GIFTS

— — —

DAY 8 — Tarry — Have You Received the Baptism?

"Tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high."

— Luke 24:49 (KJV)

The disciples were already saved when Jesus told them to tarry. The new birth was not enough for the work He had called them to. He required a second, additional clothing — the baptism of the Holy Ghost with the evidence of speaking in other tongues. The question Paul asked the Ephesian disciples is still the right question: "Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" (Acts 19:2). If not, tarry. Press in. He is waiting.

Father, I hunger for the full baptism of the Holy Ghost. I am not satisfied with less than everything You have made available. Clothe me with power from on high.

DAY 9 — The Evidence of Tongues

"And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance."

— Acts 2:4 (KJV)

The Spirit gave the utterance. They gave the mouth. Speaking in tongues is not manufactured religious noise. It is the supernatural language given by the Holy Ghost as the initial evidence of the baptism, and as an ongoing prayer language for the believer. "He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself" (1 Corinthians 14:4). Build yourself up in God today.

Holy Ghost, I yield my tongue to You. You give the utterance. I give the mouth. Build me up in the spirit through prayer in tongues today.

DAY 10 — The Word of Wisdom

"To one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom."

— 1 Corinthians 12:8 (KJV)

Not general wisdom, not human intelligence, not the wisdom of years. A specific, supernatural word of divine wisdom for a specific situation, given by the Holy Ghost in the moment it is needed. You have access to this gift. Today, when you face a decision, a conflict, or a situation that exceeds your natural ability to navigate — stop and ask the Holy Ghost for a word of wisdom. Then wait and listen.

Holy Ghost, I need wisdom that exceeds my natural ability today. Give me a word — the precise, supernatural word of wisdom — for what I am facing. I am listening.

DAY 11 — The Word of Knowledge

"To another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit."

— 1 Corinthians 12:8 (KJV)

A supernatural revelation of facts about a person or situation that you could not know by natural means. Jesus used this with the woman at the well: "Thou hast had five husbands." He knew what no natural observation could reveal, and it opened her heart completely. This gift is available to you. Today, be sensitive to any impressions, words, or knowings the Holy Ghost places in your spirit about another person.

Holy Ghost, make me sensitive to Your words of knowledge today. Let me see people the way You see them, and know what You know about them, so I can serve them the way they need.

DAY 12 — The Gift of Faith

"To another faith by the same Spirit."

— 1 Corinthians 12:9 (KJV)

Not saving faith — that was given to all. This is a specific, sovereign impartation of extraordinary faith for an extraordinary situation: the faith that moves mountains, that calls forth the dead, that commands the impossible. You cannot manufacture this gift by determination. But you can position yourself to receive it by staying clean, staying surrendered, and staying hungry for the impossible.

Father, I position myself today for the gift of faith. I surrender my natural reasoning and my sense of what is possible. Give me faith that reaches beyond what I can see.

DAY 13 — Gifts of Healing

"To another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit."

— 1 Corinthians 12:9 (KJV)

Note the plural: gifts of healings. Many gifts for many conditions. The God who healed the blind, the lame, the leprous, and the dead has not changed. He still heals through the new human species today. The vessel must be clean. The motive must be love. The glory must return to God. If those three conditions are met, there is no limit to what He can do through you.

Father, I am a clean vessel. Flow through me with Your healing power today. Let Your gifts of healing operate through my hands, my prayers, and my words for Your glory alone.

DAY 14 — Discerning of Spirits

"To another discerning of spirits."

— 1 Corinthians 12:10 (KJV)

This gift protects the body of Christ from the most dangerous counterfeit in the spiritual universe. Satan masquerades as an angel of light. Not everything that looks anointed is anointed. Not every spirit is the Holy Ghost. The gift of discernment distinguishes between the Spirit of God, the human spirit, and deceiving spirits. Pursue this gift. Honor it in those who carry it. It is a guardian gift.

Holy Ghost, sharpen my discernment. Let me not be deceived by counterfeits. Give me eyes to see what is truly of You and what is not, and give me the courage to act on what I see.

WEEK THREE: FRUIT, HOLINESS, AND UNITY

— — —

DAY 15 — Love — The First and Greatest Fruit

"The fruit of the Spirit is love."

— Galatians 5:22 (KJV)

Agape. The unconditional, self-giving, other-centered love that characterizes the very nature of God. It is not produced by effort. It is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost (Romans 5:5). Today, ask the Holy Ghost to love someone through you — especially someone who is difficult to love. Let agape express itself in a specific, concrete action.

Holy Ghost, love through me today. Let Your agape reach through my hands, my words, my presence, to the person in front of me — especially the ones I find difficult.

DAY 16 — Longsuffering — Long-Tempered

"Longsuffering."

— Galatians 5:22 (KJV)

Makrothumia. Long-tempered. The capacity to endure difficulty, provocation, and delay without exploding, withdrawing, or giving up. This fruit only grows under pressure. Whatever you are enduring right now — the delay, the injustice, the frustration, the unanswered prayer — is the very soil in which this fruit is being grown. Do not waste the pressure. Let it produce the fruit.

Father, I submit this pressure to You today. I refuse to react in the flesh. I choose makrothumia. Produce in me the long-tempered character of Christ through this trial.

DAY 17 — Meekness — Strength Under Control

"Meekness."

— Galatians 5:23 (KJV)

Not weakness. The trained war horse. Immense power under perfect submission. Moses was the meekest man on earth — the same Moses who parted the Red Sea. Today, identify the area of your life where power is operating without full submission to God. Your gifts, your abilities, your personality, your authority — bring it all under His hand. Power submitted is power multiplied.

Father, I submit every gift, every ability, every strength to Your governance today. Not my will but Yours. Not my way but Yours. Let my strength be under Your control.

DAY 18 — Holiness — Without Which No Man Shall See the Lord

"Without holiness no man shall see the Lord."

— Hebrews 12:14 (KJV)

Choris hagiasmos. Without holiness — as a pursuit, a direction, a way of life. This is not a Sunday morning word. It is a Monday morning, Tuesday afternoon, Wednesday night word. Holiness is not the absence of joy. It is the presence of God. The more of God you carry, the more His holiness naturally flows through your choices. Today, choose holiness in one specific area where you have been compromising.

Father, I choose holiness today in _____. I close that door. I open this life fully to Your presence. Be the standard I live by.

DAY 19 — The Blood of Jesus at the Door of Your Mind

"And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony."

— Revelation 12:11 (KJV)

The enemy attacks the mind. He always has. But there is a weapon that he cannot cross: the blood of Jesus. Pray this prayer today, and pray it every day: The blood of Jesus is at the door of my mind. I am dead to the world, and the world is dead to me. As Bishop Albert Pass said: if the devil came under the blood, he would no longer be the devil — because the blood would cleanse him. That is how powerful the blood is.

The blood of Jesus is at the door of my mind. I am dead to the world and the world is dead to me. Every thought that is not of God is refused entry. I stand under the blood.

DAY 20 — One New Man — Every Color Belongs

"There is neither Jew nor Greek... for ye are all one in Christ Jesus."

— Galatians 3:28 (KJV)

In Christ there is no division whatsoever. Not racial division, not cultural hierarchy, not ethnic superiority. A Black Christian, a White Christian, a Chinese Christian, a Hispanic Christian, a Filipino Christian, a Nigerian Christian, an Arab Christian — we are all one new man, one new species: the Christ-natured species. Today, actively love and honor a member of the body of Christ from a background different from yours.

Father, let Your love for every culture, every background, every skin color flow through me today.

Remove every trace of division from my heart. Let me see every believer the way You see them.

DAY 21 — Humility — The Foundation That Holds Everything

"I dwell... with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit."

— Isaiah 57:15 (KJV)

The high and lofty One inhabits the humble and contrite spirit. Not the impressive one. Not the powerful one. Not the gifted one. The humble one. Everything in this book — the gifts, the fruit, the fullness, the divine nature — finds its proper home only in the humble vessel. Pride is not just a sin. In the context of carrying God, it is an invitation to the most dangerous counterfeit. Stay low. Stay broken. Stay submitted.

Father, I choose the low place today. I am nothing without You. Every gift I carry is Yours. Every fruit I bear grows from union with You. I stay humble before You.

WEEK FOUR: PRESSING INTO MORE OF GOD

— — —

DAY 22 — How to Get More of God — The Word

"This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night."

— Joshua 1:8 (KJV)

You cannot get more of God while getting less of His Word. The Word is the seed. The Word is the vehicle. The Word is the food. The Word is the sword. More Word equals more God — not merely more information about God, but more of God Himself, because the Word is the living, active, divine expression of who He is. Set a Word intake goal today and keep it.

Father, give me a hunger for Your Word that cannot be satisfied by anything else. Let the Word renew my mind, feed my spirit, and guide my feet today.

DAY 23 — How to Get More of God — Prayer in the Spirit

"But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost."

— Jude 1:20 (KJV)

Praying in the Holy Ghost — praying in tongues, praying in the Spirit, interceding beyond the limits of your natural understanding — builds you up. The Greek oikodomeo means to build like constructing a house, brick by brick, stone by stone. Every minute of praying in the Spirit is a brick in the building of your inner man.

Set a target today. Thirty minutes. One hour. Go beyond your comfort zone.

Holy Ghost, I yield to You in prayer right now. Build me up from the inside. I give You my tongue, my time, and my full attention.

DAY 24 — How to Get More of God — Fasting

"When ye fast... thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly."

— Matthew 6:17-18 (KJV)

Jesus said when ye fast — not if ye fast. Fasting is not a spiritual discipline for the super-advanced. It is the normal rhythm of the God-Incarnate life. Fasting breaks the grip of the body over the soul and the soul over the spirit. It says to the body: you are not in charge. When the body is denied its appetites, the spirit rises. Plan a fast this week. Even one meal. And use that time to press into God.

Father, I choose to fast _____. Let this act of denial to my flesh open the door wider to Your Spirit. I want more of You than I want food.

DAY 25 — How to Get More of God — Worship

"God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

— John 4:24 (KJV)

Worship is not a song service. Worship is the spirit reaching toward God in adoration, love, gratitude, and surrender. True worship happens in the spirit first, and then expresses itself through the soul and body. Today, spend time in worship that is not driven by a playlist or a church schedule. Just you and God. Spirit reaching toward Spirit. Let the worship be real.

Father, I worship You today from my spirit. Not performance. Not habit. Not obligation. Pure love. Pure adoration. You are worthy of everything I am.

DAY 26 — How to Get More of God — Fellowship

"Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together."

— Hebrews 10:25 (KJV)

You cannot grow into the fullness of God alone. The body of Christ is not optional. The koinonia — the spirit-to-spirit fellowship of born-again believers walking in the light together — is a means of grace that cannot be replicated by any individual pursuit. Iron sharpens iron (Proverbs 27:17). Find your community. Commit to it. Serve in it. Give to it. Receive from it.

Father, connect me deeply to the body of Christ. Let me give to and receive from the community You have placed me in. Make me a builder of the body, not a consumer of it.

DAY 27 — How to Get More of God — Obedience

"If ye love me, keep my commandments."

— John 14:15 (KJV)

Obedience is not the path to earning God's love. He already loves you completely. Obedience is the path to more of God's presence. Jesus said: "He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him" (John 14:21). Obedience opens the door to manifestation. Every act of obedience — especially the costly ones — is an act of love that invites more of God.

Father, show me one specific act of obedience You are calling me to today — one thing I have been delaying or avoiding. I will do it. Open the door of Your manifest presence.

DAY 28 — From Glory to Glory — You Are Not Finished

"Changed into the same image from glory to glory."

— 2 Corinthians 3:18 (KJV)

There is no ceiling. From glory to glory is not a destination — it is a direction. A trajectory that stretches into eternity. You are not finished. The person you are today in God is not the person you will be in six months if you press in. The level of glory you carry today is not the final level. There is always more. The God who inhabits you has no bottom, no ceiling, no limit. And neither does your potential in Him.

Father, I refuse to settle at the level I am at. I press on toward more of You. I am not finished. I am not arriving — I am journeying. From glory to glory. Let's go.

— — —

DAY 29 — The Longing That Never Fully Goes Away

"My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the LORD."

— Psalm 84:2 (KJV)

The godliest men and women in Scripture — the ones who walked closest to God — were the ones who were hungriest for more of Him. The closer you come to God, the more you realize how vast He is and how much more there is. The longing does not decrease with proximity. It deepens. This aching, unquenchable, desperate hunger for God is not a sign that something is wrong. It is the sign that your spirit is alive and knows what it was made for.

Father, I embrace this longing. I will not try to fill it with anything other than You. I am the deer. You are the water. I pant after You with everything I have.

DAY 30 — How Far Can You Really Go?

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us."

— Ephesians 3:20 (KJV)

The answer has not changed from the day you started this devotional. You can go as far as God Himself goes. Because God Himself has come to live inside you. The ceiling of your possibility in Him is set by the infinite capacity of the One who inhabits you — and He has no ceiling. Go. Press in. Stay humble. Stay holy. Stay filled. Stay connected. Bear the fruit. Exercise the gifts. Love every member of the body. Long for God with everything you have. And never stop. This is what you are. This is what you were made for. This is the life that is truly life. Do not waste it.

Father, I give You all of me for all of You. I will not live small. I will not settle. I will not waste this life. From glory to glory, by Your Spirit, in Your grace — I press in. Amen.

— — —

You have completed thirty days of pressing in.

Now do it again. And again. And again.

From glory to glory — the journey never ends.

— — —

"The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen."

— 2 Corinthians 13:14, KJV

Chapter 19: Spirit, Soul, and Body — The Tripartite Being.....	72
Chapter 20: Thirty Days of Pressing In.....	83

Chapter Twenty-One: How a God-Incarnate Being Prays

Chapter 21 · Romans 8:26-27 · John 16:23-24 · Matthew 6:9-13 · KJV

— — —

There is a kind of prayer that most Christians have been taught, and there is a kind of prayer that the God-Incarnate being is authorized to pray. They are not the same prayer. The first is the prayer of a beggar — uncertain, tentative, full of qualifications and apologies, hoping that God might hear, wondering whether the request is too much, not sure if He is paying attention. The second is the prayer of a son, a daughter, a joint-heir, a new creation seated in heavenly places, with the Spirit of the risen Christ making intercession from within.

The first prayer starts with the assumption of distance. The second starts with the reality of union. Because this book has established what you are — a God-Incarnate being carrying the sperma of God, inhabited by the Holy Ghost, joined to the Lord as one spirit, already seated in heavenly places — the prayer life that corresponds to your identity is not the prayer of distance. It is the prayer of access. The prayer of intimate authority. The prayer of a child speaking to a Father who is already inside.

"Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered."

— Romans 8:26, KJV

The Holy Ghost makes intercession for us. From within us. With groanings that exceed the capacity of natural language — prayers so deep and so precise that they bypass the limitations of the human mind and go directly from the indwelling Spirit to the throne of God. You do not have to know the right words. The One who lives inside you is already praying, and His prayer is always according to the will of God.

The Lord's Prayer — A Model, Not a Script

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen."

— Matthew 6:9-13, KJV

Jesus said "after this manner" — not "these exact words." He gave a model, not a script. The Lord's Prayer is a template of prayer posture, not a formula to be repeated mechanically. It opens with relationship: Our Father. Before any request is made, the relationship is established. The God-Incarnate being does not come to prayer as a stranger knocking on a distant door. He or she comes as a child walking into the room of a Father who has already moved in.

The six movements of the model prayer are these: Adoration (hallowed be thy name), Alignment (thy kingdom come, thy will be done), Dependence (give us this day our daily bread), Confession and Release (forgive us as we forgive), Protection (lead us not into temptation), and Declaration (thine is the kingdom, power, and glory forever). Every complete prayer touches all six movements.

Praying in the Spirit — The Supernatural Prayer Language

"For if I pray in an unknown tongue, my spirit prayeth, but my understanding is unfruitful. What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also."

— 1 Corinthians 14:14-15, KJV

The God-Incarnate being has access to a dimension of prayer that transcends the capacity of the natural mind: praying in the Spirit, praying in tongues, the supernatural prayer language given by the Holy Ghost at the baptism of the Holy Ghost. When you pray in the Spirit, your spirit prays — directly, bypassing the limitations of your understanding. You are communing with God at the deepest level of your being, spirit to Spirit, in a language the Holy Ghost Himself provides.

"But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost."

— Jude 1:20, KJV

Oikodomeo — building, like a contractor building a house, brick by brick, floor by floor. Every minute spent praying in the Holy Ghost is a brick in the building of your inner man. This is how the God-Incarnate being becomes stronger in the spirit over time: not by more information but by more Spirit-prayer. Set a daily target. Begin with fifteen minutes. Then thirty. Then an hour. Then beyond. The building does not stop until the building is complete.

The Prayer of Faith

"And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it."

— John 14:13-14, KJV

The prayer of faith is not the prayer of hope. Hope says: I wish this would happen. Faith says: this is done. The prayer of faith speaks to mountains (Mark 11:23), commands conditions (Mark 11:24), and stands on the Word of God regardless of what the natural senses report. It is not loud necessarily. It is not emotional necessarily. It is settled. It is grounded in the Word. And it does not waver.

The God-Incarnate being does not beg for what has already been provided. He or she enforces what has already been won. The prayer of faith is the legal instrument by which the new human species takes possession of the inheritance already granted in Christ.

Spiritual Warfare Prayer

"For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places."

— Ephesians 6:12, KJV

The God-Incarnate being understands that the primary reality is not the natural one. The forces that most affect human life are not economic or political or social — they are spiritual. Principalities, powers, rulers of darkness, spiritual wickedness in high places. These are real. They have agendas. They operate in the invisible realm and produce visible effects.

But the God-Incarnate being does not fight from fear. He or she fights from position. Already seated in heavenly places in Christ Jesus — above every principality, above every power, above every name that is named. Spiritual warfare prayer is not screaming at the devil in panic. It is speaking with the calm authority of someone who knows their position, knows the blood of Jesus, and knows that the One who inhabits them is infinitely greater than the one who opposes them.

"Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you."

— James 4:7, KJV

The sequence matters: submit first, resist second. The authority to resist the devil is always derivative — it flows from submission to God. The God-Incarnate being who is fully submitted to God carries a level of spiritual authority that makes the enemy flee. Not saunter away. Flee.

Intercession — Standing in the Gap

"And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it."

— Ezekiel 22:30, KJV

God looks for a man, a woman, who will stand in the gap. Intercession is the prayer that positions itself between a condition that exists and a condition that God desires, and refuses to move until heaven breaks through. It is the prayer that cost Elijah everything and ended a three-year drought. It is the prayer that Moses prayed when he stood between the wrath of God and the sin of Israel: "Yet now, if thou wilt forgive their sin; and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou hast written" (Exodus 32:32).

The God-Incarnate being is called to this level of prayer. Not as an optional extra for the spiritually advanced but as a fundamental expression of the love of the new human species for the world it inhabits. You carry the sperma of God, the nature of the One who "ever liveth to make intercession" (Hebrews 7:25). Intercession is in your spiritual DNA.

You are not praying alone. The Holy Ghost is interceding within you. The Son is interceding at the right hand of the Father. You stand between heaven and earth with the authority of a son, the faith of a new creation, and the power of the God who inhabits you. Pray accordingly.

Chapter 21 — Questions for Reflection and Discussion

How a God-Incarnate Being Prays

1. Describe the difference between the prayer of a beggar and the prayer of a son or daughter. Which posture most accurately characterizes your prayer life right now? What would need to change for it to shift?

2. Praying in the Holy Ghost builds you up in the spirit like a contractor builds a house — brick by brick. How much time per day are you currently investing in Spirit-prayer? What is the honest number? What would it look like to double it?

3. The sequence in James 4:7 is: submit first, resist second. The authority to resist the devil flows from submission to God. In what area of your life is your resistance weak because your submission is incomplete?

Chapter Twenty-Two: A Word to the One Who Keeps Falling

Chapter 22 · 1 Corinthians 10:12-13 · Romans 7:15-25 · 1 John 1:9 · KJV

— — —

This chapter is not for everyone. It is for a specific reader — one who has been reading this book and feeling, somewhere underneath the theology, a quiet but persistent accusation: "This is not for you. You have fallen too many times. You know what you know and you still fail. The new creation described in these pages is not what you experience. Maybe it is real for others. Not for you."

I am writing directly to you. And I need to tell you something from my own life before I tell you anything from the Word.

I was that person.

In my early Christian walk, after that April night in 1983, after the joy and the peace and the fire and the purpose — I found myself falling into sin. Repeatedly. Against my own will. I did not want to sin. I loved God with everything in me. And yet I kept falling. And every time I fell, the enemy was right there with the verdict: "You see? You are not really a new creation. New creations do not do what you just did. You are a fraud."

I brought that anguish to God with the honesty of a desperate person who had nowhere else to go. I asked Him directly: "Lord God, how can I not sin?"

And God, in His glorious patient way, did not condemn me. He gave me a verse.

"There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it."

— 1 Corinthians 10:13, KJV

Common to man. My struggle was not unique. My failure was not evidence of a special corruption that put me beyond the reach of grace. What I was experiencing was the universal reality of the new creation living in a body not yet glorified, with a soul not yet fully renewed, in a world that had not stopped its assault. The struggle was real. But so was the way of escape.

Then the Lord brought to my mind the verse just before it:

"Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."

— 1 Corinthians 10:12, KJV

I used to say, in my early zeal: "The only way I will ever leave the Lord is if I am deceived." I said it because I was so in love with God that I could not imagine a voluntary departure. But the Lord gently corrected even that confidence. He said: it is possible to be deceived. Stay humble. Pride comes before a fall, and the one who believes he cannot fall is the one who is most vulnerable to falling.

What Paul Understood That We Must Understand

"For that which I do I allow not: for what I would, that do I not; but what I hate, that do I. For the good that I would I do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do."

— Romans 7:15, 19, KJV

The Apostle Paul wrote these words. The man who wrote two-thirds of the New Testament, who was caught up to the third heaven (2 Corinthians 12:2), who worked miracles through aprons and handkerchiefs, who planted churches across the known world — this man described the war between the new nature and the flesh with anguished personal honesty. "What I would, that do I not. What I hate, that I do."

If the Apostle Paul knew this struggle, you are in good company.

The war between the regenerated spirit and the not-yet-glorified flesh is real. It is not a sign that your new birth was not genuine. It is a sign that you are genuinely in the process of sanctification — which is not an event but a journey, not a moment but a lifetime of progressive transformation by the Spirit and the Word.

What to Do When You Fall

"If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

— 1 John 1:9, KJV

The word confess is homologeō in Greek — to say the same thing, to agree. When you sin, God does not want you to spiral into shame, self-condemnation, and self-imposed distance from His presence. He wants you to agree with Him about what happened, receive the cleansing that the blood of Jesus provides, and get back up. Not tomorrow. Not after an appropriate period of self-punishment. Now.

The accuser wants you to stay on the ground. He wants the shame to keep you from the very presence that could restore you. Do not give him that victory. The moment you fall, run to God — not from Him. Confess. Receive. Rise. The blood of Jesus is sufficient for every sin of the believer, without exception, without qualification, without an expiration date on grace.

The Blood of Jesus at the Door of Your Mind

The enemy attacked my mind relentlessly in those early years. The battlefield was not primarily behavioral — it was mental. The thoughts, the imaginations, the memories, the suggestions that arrived in the mind and had to be dealt with before they became actions. And God gave me a prayer that I still pray today:

The blood of Jesus is at the door of my mind. I am dead to the world, and the world is dead to me.

Bishop Albert Pass said something about the blood of Jesus that I have never forgotten: "If the devil came under the blood, he would no longer be the devil — because the blood would cleanse him." Think about how powerful that makes the blood. The most destructive force in the spiritual universe would be transformed by a single encounter with the blood of Jesus. And that blood stands at the door of your mind.

Pray that prayer. Every morning. Every time the enemy comes at your mind. Every time the memory of a past sin tries to define your present identity. The blood of Jesus is not a symbol. It is the most powerful substance in the spiritual universe. Stand under it. Stay under it.

You Are Not Disqualified

Here is the word I need you to receive before you close this chapter. Your history of falling does not disqualify you from the God-Incarnate life. Read that sentence again. Your failures do not reduce the potency of the sperma of God that was planted in your dead spirit. Your struggle with sin does not shrink the fullness of God that is available to you. Your seasons of backsliding do not cancel the predestination of Romans 8:29.

What disqualifies a believer from the fullness of the God-Incarnate life is not a history of falling. It is a choice to stop getting up. As long as you get up — as long as you confess, receive cleansing, submit to God, and press forward — the trajectory of your life is still from glory to glory. The direction is still toward the image of the firstborn Son. The seed of God still remains in you. And the Holy Ghost who began a good work in you is faithful to complete it (Philippians 1:6).

Get up. Receive the cleansing of the blood. Run to God, not from Him. And press in to the fullness of what He has made available. It is still yours. It was always yours. Nothing that happened on your worst day changed that.

You are not disqualified. You are not beyond the reach of grace. The blood of Jesus is sufficient. Get up. Confess. Receive. The seed of God still remains in you. The direction is still from glory to glory. Press in.

Chapter 22 — Questions for Reflection and Discussion

A Word to the One Who Keeps Falling

- 1. Paul described the war between the new nature and the flesh with anguished honesty in Romans 7. Does knowing that the Apostle Paul knew this struggle change how you see your own? What does it change, specifically?

- 2. 1 John 1:9 says confess and He is faithful and just to forgive AND to cleanse. Not just forgive — cleanse. What is the difference between forgiveness and cleansing? Which one do you most need to fully receive right now?

- 3. The enemy wants shame to keep you from the very presence that could restore you. When you fall, is your first impulse to run to God or away from Him? What would it take to make running to God the automatic response?

Chapter Twenty-Three: Jesus — The Prototype of the New Human Species

*Chapter 23 · John 14:12 · Romans 8:29 · Colossians 1:15-18 ·
KJV*

— — —

Before an automobile manufacturer releases a new vehicle to the public, they build a prototype. Not the finished product ready for mass production — the prototype. The original. The model that demonstrates what the engineers have designed, what the technology is capable of, and what every vehicle that follows will be patterned after. The prototype is driven, tested, studied, and displayed. It is the manufacturer saying to the world: this is what is coming. This is the standard. Everything we produce after this will be built on what you see right here.

Jesus Christ is the prototype of the new human species.

He was not simply the Saviour who died for our sins — though He was absolutely that. He was not simply God incarnate in human flesh — though He was absolutely that too. He was also the living demonstration, the divine prototype, the first model of what the new creation would look like when it walked the earth. He was the Father saying to the watching universe: this is what is coming. This is the standard. Every born-again believer that follows will be built on what you see right here in My Son.

What a Prototype Does

A prototype serves three purposes. First, it demonstrates the design — it shows what the finished product looks like, moves like, and is capable of. Second, it establishes the standard — every unit that comes after it is measured against it. Third, it proves the concept — it answers the question "Is this possible?" with a visible, tangible, operating answer: yes. It is possible. I am holding the proof in your hands.

Jesus walked this earth as all three. He demonstrated what a human life fully surrendered to and inhabited by God looks like. He established the standard — Romans 8:29 says believers are predestined to be conformed to His image. And He proved the concept: a human being can carry the fullness of God, operate in supernatural power, love without limit, conquer death, and ascend to the right hand of the Father. It is possible. He proved it.

But here is what makes the prototype declaration even more staggering: He did not keep the design to Himself.

John 14:12 — The Most Audacious Promise in the Bible

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father."

— John 14:12, KJV

Read that again. Slowly. The works that I do shall he do also. Jesus is not speaking to the twelve apostles exclusively. He is speaking to everyone who believes on Him. He that believeth. That includes you. The works

He did — healing the sick, raising the dead, giving sight to the blind, casting out demons, speaking words that changed destinies — those same works shall believers do also. And then He raises the stakes beyond anything the natural mind can contain: greater works than these shall he do.

Greater works. Not lesser works dressed up in religious language. Not works approximately similar to His, scaled down for the modern era. Greater works. Because I go unto my Father.

Why does His going to the Father make greater works possible? Because when He went to the Father, He sent the Holy Ghost. And the Holy Ghost did not go to twelve people in Jerusalem. He went into every born-again believer in every generation, in every nation, across every culture. The prototype's power, multiplied across millions of vessels, produces a cumulative expression of the works of God that exceeds what was possible through a single physical body in first-century Palestine.

The prototype produced the product. And the product was built to do what the prototype did.

Jesus Came to Teach, Train, and Transfer

Jesus came to do three things, not one. He came first to die — to accomplish what no one else could accomplish, to bear sin, to destroy death from the inside, to open the door to the new birth. That part belongs to Him alone. No one else dies for the sins of the world. That is the unrepeatable, irreplaceable, once-for-all work of the Lamb of God.

But then He came to teach. He spent three years walking with twelve men, demonstrating the God-inhabited life, showing them how to pray, how to trust, how to face opposition, how to love their enemies, how to operate in the power of the Father. He was not merely preaching theology. He was training His successors. He was building the first generation of the new human species and showing them, by His own life, what they were designed to become.

And then He came to transfer. Before He left, He gave them the commission: "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations" (Matthew 28:19). Go and do what I have been doing. Teach what I have been teaching. Baptize in the name that I have revealed. And wait for the power I am sending. He was not abandoning the mission. He was releasing it — transferring it to the new human species He had spent three years preparing.

"As the Father hath sent me, even so send I you."

— John 20:21, KJV

As the Father sent Him. The same mission. The same authority. The same Spirit. The same mandate. The prototype hands the design to the product and says: now you carry this. Now you demonstrate it. Now you prove the concept in every generation and every nation until I return.

Prototype Examples — And the Ultimate One

When Ford Motor Company built the first Model T prototype, it was not the greatest vehicle ever made. It was the proof of concept — the demonstration that a mass-produced automobile was possible. Every vehicle that followed was better, faster, more refined. But none of them would exist without the prototype that proved it could be done.

When the Wright brothers built their prototype aircraft at Kitty Hawk in 1903, it flew 120 feet. It was barely off the ground. But it proved the concept: a heavier-than-air machine could fly. Every aircraft that followed — from commercial airliners to spacecraft — stands on the shoulders of that 120-foot flight. The prototype made everything after it possible.

When NASA built the prototype for the Apollo missions, they built it to test the concept before human lives depended on it. The prototype absorbs the risk of proving the design so that what follows can operate in confidence.

Jesus Christ absorbed the ultimate risk. He entered human flesh as God, faced every temptation of the human condition without sin, went to the cross, descended into death, and emerged on the third day as the living proof that it is possible for God and humanity to be fully united in one being — and for that being to triumph over sin, death, and every force of darkness. He absorbed the cost of proving the concept so that every born-again believer who follows Him could operate in the confidence of the proven design.

He is not just the best prototype in history. He is the prototype that defines what it means to be human at the highest possible level.

Colossians 1:15-18 — Firstborn, Prototype, Standard

"He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature... the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence."

— Colossians 1:15, 18, KJV

Firstborn of every creature — the prototype of all creation, the standard against which all things are measured. Firstborn from the dead — the prototype of resurrection, the first to demonstrate the life that follows death, the first model of the resurrection body that every believer will receive. He has the preeminence in all things — He is the original, the standard, the design that all others reflect.

And Romans 8:29 declares the goal of predestination: to be conformed to the image of the Son, that He might be the firstborn among many brethren. The prototype is not the only one. He is the first of many. He is the firstborn — and you are among the born who follow.

Jesus is the prototype. You are the product.
But you were built to do what the prototype did. He said so Himself: "The works that I do shall he do also. And greater works than these shall he do."

Chapter Twenty-Four: Paul — The Depths, the Heights, and the Thorn

*Chapter 24 · Philippians 3:10 · 2 Corinthians 12:1-10 · 2
Corinthians 11:14 · KJV*

— — —

Perhaps there has never been a human being born again who pressed deeper into the knowledge of God than the Apostle Paul — or if there has, we do not have the written record of it. Not in the first century. Not in any century since. He was a man who, by the grace of God and the relentless hunger of his regenerated spirit, went to depths and heights in God that stagger the imagination. And yet God, in His wisdom and love, allowed something into Paul's life that is one of the most instructive passages in all of Scripture — not because it shows Paul at his strongest, but because it shows him at his most dependent.

The thorn in the flesh.

Paul's Hunger: That I May Know Him

"That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death."

— Philippians 3:10, KJV

Paul had already been a Christian for decades when he wrote these words. He had already been to the third heaven. He had already worked miracles through aprons and handkerchiefs. He had already planted churches across the known world, written inspired letters that would form the core of the New Testament, and received revelations of Christ that he described as so extraordinary that no human language could contain them (2 Corinthians 12:4). And his prayer was still: that I may know Him.

Not that I may know more about Him. That I may know Him. The Greek word is ginosko — intimate, experiential, relational knowing. The kind of knowing a husband has of a wife, the kind of knowing a child has of a father who has been present in every room of their life. Paul was not satisfied with what he already had. He pressed. He reached. He went deeper and higher with every breath.

The power of His resurrection — Paul wanted to carry resurrection power at a level he had not yet experienced. The fellowship of His sufferings — Paul wanted to know Christ in the suffering as fully as in the power. Being made conformable unto His death — Paul wanted to be so emptied of self, so fully given over to Christ, that the parallel to the cross itself was not too far a stretch. This is a man who wanted everything of God that was available. Everything. He went to the deeper depths and the higher heights of God more than any human being who has ever lived.

The Third Heaven — Where Paul Went

"I knew a man in Christ above fourteen years ago, (whether in the body, I cannot tell; or whether out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth;) such an one caught up to the third heaven."

— 2 Corinthians 12:2, KJV

Paul describes an experience so extraordinary that he could not determine whether it was physical or spiritual — the line between heaven and earth had dissolved so completely that he could not say where his body was. He was caught up to the third heaven. To paradise. And he heard things there — unspeakable words, words that were unlawful or impossible for a human being to utter. The revelation he received in that place exceeded the capacity of human language to transmit.

This is the man writing to the Philippians: that I may know Him. Even after the third heaven, he was still pressing. Even after the unspeakable words, he was still reaching. There is no arrival in the God-Incarnate life. There is only the next level of glory.

The Thorn — Why God Allowed It

"And lest I should be exalted above measure through the abundance of the revelations, there was given to me a thorn in the flesh, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, lest I should be exalted above measure."

— 2 Corinthians 12:7, KJV

The phrase is repeated twice: lest I should be exalted above measure. God allowed this thorn — whatever it was, and Scripture leaves it deliberately unspecified — for one reason above all others: to keep Paul humble under the weight of the revelations he had received.

This is one of the most important warnings in this entire book. Paul had gone to the heights and depths of God's revelation like no one else. And God said: the higher you go, the more the humility must increase proportionally. The greater the revelation, the deeper the brokenness required to carry it safely. Paul needed the thorn not because he was weak but precisely because he was strong — and because the revelations he carried were so extraordinary that without the thorn, the pride they could produce would have destroyed him.

Consider what happened to Satan. He was Lucifer — the anointed cherub, the covering angel, the most magnificent created being in the universe, full of wisdom and perfect in beauty (Ezekiel 28:12). He had access to the glory of God that no other created being had. He dwelt in the presence of the Most High. He carried more revelation of who God was than any other creature in existence. And it destroyed him. Not the revelation itself — but what the revelation produced in a heart that was not submitted: pride. Lucifer got beside himself. He looked at the glory he carried and forgot that it was God's glory, not his. He said in his heart: I will be like the Most High (Isaiah 14:14).

God allowed the thorn in Paul's flesh because He loved Paul too much to let him follow the same path that destroyed the most gifted created being in the universe.

"And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me."

— 2 Corinthians 12:9, KJV

My grace is sufficient. Not "I will remove this." Not "You have earned immunity from difficulty." My grace is sufficient for exactly this, as it is. And then the paradox that only God could design: My strength is made perfect in weakness. The weaker Paul felt in himself, the more room there was for the power of Christ to rest upon him. The thorn was not a limitation on Paul's ministry. It was a condition of it.

The Warning for the God-Incarnate Being

The lesson from Paul's thorn is one that every member of the new human species who is pressing deeper into God must receive and hold. The higher you go in God — the more revelation you receive, the more gifts operate through you, the more of His fullness you carry — the more absolutely essential humility becomes. Not as an add-on virtue. As the load-bearing wall of the entire structure.

The gifts will not protect you from pride. The fruit alone will not protect you from pride. The revelations will not protect you from pride. Only the daily, deliberate, ruthless choice to remain broken before God — to give Him all the glory for everything you carry, to remember that you are a vessel and He is the content, that you are the branch and He is the vine — only that will protect you from the destruction that took Lucifer and would have taken Paul.

Press into God with everything you have. Go to the depths and the heights. Hunger the way Paul hungered. But carry what you receive the way Paul carried his thorn — with the settled conviction that the grace of God is sufficient, that strength is perfected in weakness, and that the greatest safety in the presence of the greatest revelation is the smallest opinion of yourself.

Press deeper. Go higher. Hunger the way Paul hungered: "That I may know Him." But carry every revelation with the humility Paul carried his thorn. The higher the revelation, the deeper the brokenness must be. His grace is sufficient. His strength is made perfect in weakness.

Chapter Twenty-Five: Tarrying — How We Came Through

Chapter 25 · Luke 24:49 · Acts 2:1–4 · Acts 1:14 · KJV

— — —

Before we had the theological language for it — before we knew about sperma theou or kaine ktisis or pleroma or hyperekperissou — we had a practice. A holy, powerful, Spirit-led practice that produced the very experience this entire book has been describing. We called it tarrying for the Holy Ghost.

And it worked. To the glory of God the Father, in the name of Jesus Christ, it worked every time.

What Tarrying Was

The word comes directly from the command of Jesus in Luke 24:49: "tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high." Tarry. Wait. Stay. Do not move until what I have promised has arrived. The 120 disciples who gathered in the Upper Room on the day of Pentecost did not simply meet and sing a song and go home. They tarried. They pressed. They sought. They cried out. They waited in that room with a singular hunger — for the promise of the Father to be fulfilled.

In the Pentecostal tradition in which Pastor Willie Johnson was saved and discipled, tarrying was the practice of doing exactly what those 120 did in the Upper Room — pressing into God, calling on the Holy Ghost to come in His glory, and refusing to stop until He arrived.

"These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication."

— Acts 1:14, KJV

How We Tarried — The Testimony

In those early years of fire, the practice was simple and it was holy. The congregation would come together. Eyes closed. Hands lifted or hands clapping. And then the seeking would begin.

Yes, Lord. Yes, Lord. Yes, Lord. More, Lord.
More, Lord. More, Lord.

Not once. Not twice. With persistence. With hunger. With the full force of a heart that had decided it would not leave without what God had promised. The words would build. The hunger would deepen. The room would fill with the sound of people who were not performing religion but pursuing a Person.

And He would come.

Not always in the same way. Not always at the same moment. But He would come. And when He came — when the Holy Ghost arrived in His glory in that room — the evidence was unmistakable. Men and women, boys and girls, began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance. Not manufactured. Not worked up. Not imitated. Given by the Holy Ghost Himself, who is a Person and not a force, and who distributed that supernatural language from within the spirit of each one He filled.

They came through. That was the language: came through. Came through speaking in tongues. Came through into the fullness of the baptism of the Holy Ghost. And the joy that followed, the peace that settled, the power that rested on those who came through — no words in this book are adequate to describe it.

Why Tarrying Works

Tarrying is not a formula. It is not a religious technique for manipulating God into giving what He might otherwise withhold. God is not reluctant to fill His people. Jesus said in Luke 11:13: "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?" How much more. The Father is more willing to give the Holy Ghost than the most loving earthly father is willing to give good gifts to his children.

Tarrying works because it does something to the one tarrying, not to God. It positions the vessel. It empties the self. It says with the whole body, soul, and spirit: I am not leaving until You come. I am not going back to business as usual. I am not satisfied with what I have. I want what You promised. That posture — desperate, hungry, persistent, wholly available — is the posture that the Holy Ghost fills. Not because He is reluctant, but because that posture is the open vessel He is looking for.

"And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting. And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to Speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance."

— Acts 2:2-4, KJV

They were all filled. Every one of them. No one was left out. The Holy Ghost is not partial. He does not fill some and leave others waiting indefinitely out of divine preference. He fills every vessel that is open, hungry, and available. Yes, Lord. More, Lord. Come, Holy Ghost. Come in Your glory. We will not leave without You.

For Those Who Have Not Yet Come Through

If you have not yet received the baptism of the Holy Ghost with the evidence of speaking in other tongues, this chapter is written directly to you. Not to make you feel less than. Not to create a two-tier Christianity where some are more saved than others. But to say with the same urgency Jesus had when He told His disciples to tarry: do not settle for less than the full promise of the Father.

Find a quiet place. Get before God with an open heart and an honest hunger. Begin to seek Him. Not performing. Not manufacturing emotion. Simply: Yes, Lord. More, Lord. Come, Holy Ghost. I receive You now. Yield your tongue — because the Spirit gives the utterance but you give the mouth. And trust Him. He is faithful. He promised. He will come.

And when He does — when the Holy Ghost fills you and the utterance comes and you speak in tongues for the first time to the glory of God the Father in the face of Jesus Christ — you will understand with your whole being what no theology book can fully transmit. You will know that you have come through. Hallelujah.

Yes, Lord. Yes, Lord. Yes, Lord. More, Lord.
More, Lord. More, Lord. Come, Holy Ghost.
Come in Your glory. We will not leave without You. Fill every vessel that is open. Fill every heart that is hungry. Hallelujah to the glory of God the Father in the name of Jesus Christ.

Chapter Twenty-Six: I Am Not of This World — I Am from Heaven

Chapter 26 · John 17:14-16 · John 3:3-7 · Philippians 3:20 · KJV

— — —

Here is a question that will stop people in their tracks. When someone asks you where you are from, what do you say?

Most believers answer with the city of their birth. Greenwood, Mississippi. Detroit, Michigan. Lagos, Nigeria. Seoul, Korea. These are accurate answers about the origin of the physical body — the vessel, the earth suit, the outer dimension of the tripartite being that was formed in a particular hospital in a particular city on a particular date.

But is that the whole answer? Is that the deepest answer? Is that the truest answer about where a born-again believer is ultimately from?

No. It is not.

Because when you were born again, you were not born again from Greenwood, Mississippi. You were not born again from a hospital or a city or a nation. You were born again from above. From heaven. From God. The sperma of God — the incorruptible seed of the heavenly Father — entered your dead spirit and produced a new creation that has its origin not in the earth but in heaven. You were, in the most literal and most theological sense, born from above.

What Jesus Said About Himself — And About His Disciples

"They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world."

— John 17:16, KJV

Jesus did not say His disciples were not of the world in some metaphorical or aspirational sense. He said it as a statement of present, existing reality. They are not of the world. Even as I am not of the world. The disciples were physically born in Jewish cities and Roman provinces. Their bodies had earthly birth certificates. And yet Jesus looked at them and said: they are not of this world. The same way I am not of this world.

Jesus was not of this world because He was the eternal Son of God who had entered creation from outside it. His ultimate origin was not Bethlehem. His ultimate origin was the bosom of the Father (John 1:18). Bethlehem was the address of His Incarnation. Heaven was the address of His origin.

And His disciples — born again of the sperma theou, carrying the divine seed of the heavenly Father in their regenerated spirits, made new creations by the power of the Holy Ghost — shared that same fundamental reality. Their bodies were from the earth. But they themselves — the new creation, the spirit born of God, the kaine ktisis carrying the sperma theou — were from above. From God. From heaven.

Born Again Means Born from Above

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

— John 3:3, KJV

The Greek word translated "again" in John 3:3 is anōthen. It does not mean only "a second time." It means from above. Born from above. Born from heaven. When Nicodemus heard "born again" and thought of a literal second physical birth — entering the womb a second time — Jesus corrected him: that which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit (John 3:6).

The first birth is from the earth. From a mother's womb. From physical seed. This birth produces a physical, earthly human being whose origin is the dust of the ground, just as Adam's was.

The second birth — the new birth, the birth from above — is from heaven. From the Holy Ghost. From the sperma of God. This birth produces a new creation whose origin is not the earth but the Father. Not the dust but the divine. Not the natural but the supernatural. And this new creation — though it still lives in an earthly body and walks on an earthly planet — has a heavenly origin, a heavenly nature, a heavenly citizenship, and a heavenly destiny.

Our Citizenship Is in Heaven

"For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ."

— Philippians 3:20, KJV

The word translated "conversation" is politeuma in Greek — citizenship, commonwealth, the place where one holds political membership. Paul is not speaking about where believers will eventually go when they die.

He is speaking about where they already belong right now. Our citizenship is in heaven. Present tense. Already. Now. Not someday. Now.

A citizen of a foreign country who is living and working in another nation does not become a citizen of that nation simply by virtue of being physically present on its soil. Their citizenship belongs to the country they are from. Their passport identifies them with a different nation. Their ultimate allegiance is not to the place of their temporary residence but to the place of their origin and belonging.

The born-again believer is a citizen of heaven living temporarily on earth. The body is here. The soul engages with the earthly environment. But the spirit — the new creation, the sperma-of-God-carrying, Holy-Ghost-indwelt, heaven-born spirit — belongs to another country. And that country's King is coming back.

Yes — You Can Say It

So when someone asks you where you are from — say it. Say it with joy. Say it with confidence. Say it with the settled assurance of a person who knows exactly what they are and where they belong.

I am not of this world.

I am from heaven.

Yes, this will shock people. Yes, it will sound audacious. Yes, it will require some explanation. And that explanation is the gospel — that Jesus Christ died and rose again, that His Holy Ghost enters the dead human spirit through faith in Him, that the sperma of God produces a new creation whose origin is not the earth but the Father, and that every born-again believer is a citizen of heaven walking temporarily in an earthly vessel until the King returns.

You were physically born in a city. A nurse wrote down a location and a time on a birth certificate. That is the record of your first birth — the birth of your body.

But there is another birth. A second date. A second location. The moment the sperma of God entered your dead spirit and raised it to life. The moment you became a new creation. The moment you were born from above. That birth has a heavenly record. Your name was written in another book — not in a hospital registry but in the Lamb's book of life.

And that birth makes you, in the most literal and most beautiful sense, a heavenly being living on earth. Not of this world. Born from above. A member of the new human species whose ultimate origin, ultimate citizenship, and ultimate home is not the dust of the ground but the glory of the Father.

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God."

— John 1:12-13, KJV

Not of blood. Not of the will of the flesh. Not of the will of man. But of God. Your second birth — the birth that defines you, the birth that made you a new creation, the birth that is the subject of this entire book — that birth is from God. And that makes you, beloved, from heaven.

I am not of this world. I am from heaven. I was physically born on the earth. But I was born again from above — from God, from the Holy Ghost, from the incorruptible seed of the Father. My citizenship is in heaven. My origin is divine. I am a citizen of heaven walking temporarily on earth until my King returns. I am not of this world. And I am not ashamed to say so.

Chapter Twenty-Seven: The Blood of Jesus — The Most Powerful Substance in the Universe

*Chapter 27 · Revelation 12:11 · Hebrews 9:13-14 · 1 John 1:7
· KJV*

— — —

There is a substance that the enemy cannot cross. There is a covering that no principality can penetrate, no power can override, no force of darkness can nullify. There is a weapon that when applied by faith, causes the accuser of the brethren to fall silent, causes the gates of hell to retreat, and causes the most destructive force in the spiritual universe to flee. That substance is not a prayer technique. It is not a spiritual discipline. It is not the accumulation of years of faithful Christian living.

It is the blood of Jesus Christ.

The blood of Jesus is the most powerful substance in the spiritual universe. Not metaphorically. Not symbolically. Literally. The blood that was shed on Calvary — the blood of the God-Man, the blood that carried both the divine and the human, the blood that was offered not on an earthly altar but in the heavenly sanctuary itself (Hebrews 9:12) — that blood is living and active and operative right now. It has not lost one drop of its power. It has not faded with the centuries. It is as potent today as it was the moment it fell on the ground outside Jerusalem.

What the Blood Does

"How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?"

— Hebrews 9:14, KJV

The blood of Jesus does not merely cover sin the way the Old Testament sacrifices covered sin. The Old Testament blood covered — it placed a temporary veil over the debt. But the blood of Jesus purges. The Greek is katharizo — to cleanse thoroughly, to make genuinely clean, to remove the stain entirely and permanently. When the blood of Jesus is applied to a sin, that sin is not merely covered. It is removed. It no longer exists in the record of heaven. The accuser has no legal ground on which to stand because the evidence has been purged.

This is why John says in 1 John 1:9 that God is faithful and just to forgive AND to cleanse from all unrighteousness. Not forgive and remember. Not forgive and keep a partial record. Forgive and cleanse. The blood does both simultaneously.

The Blood at the Door of Your Mind

"And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death."

— Revelation 12:11, KJV

The enemy's primary battlefield is the mind. He has been attacking the human mind since the Garden — planting suggestions, manufacturing accusations, replaying failures, projecting fears, distorting identity.

He does not need to produce new weapons. His oldest tool is still his most effective: the thought that arrives in the mind like a visitor who was never invited.

The God-Incarnate being has been given a weapon for exactly this battlefield. Pray this prayer. Pray it every morning. Pray it every time the enemy comes at your mind:

The blood of Jesus is at the door of my mind. I am dead to the world, and the world is dead to me. Every thought that is not of God is refused entry. I stand under the blood.

This is not a formula. It is a declaration of spiritual reality. The blood of Jesus, applied by faith to the gateway of the mind, establishes a covering that the enemy cannot cross. He can knock. He can suggest. He can attempt to gain entry. But he cannot pass through the blood.

Bishop Albert Pass said it this way — and I have never forgotten it: "If the devil came under the blood, he would no longer be the devil — because the blood would cleanse him." That is the power of the blood. The most destructive force in the spiritual universe would be transformed by a single encounter with it. That blood stands at the door of your mind. Let it stand there every day.

The Blood Speaks

"And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel."

— Hebrews 12:24, KJV

Abel's blood spoke from the ground. God said to Cain: "The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground" (Genesis 4:10). Abel's blood spoke — it cried out for justice, for judgment, for recompense. And God heard it.

The blood of Jesus speaks better things. Abel's blood cried for judgment. The blood of Jesus cries for mercy. Abel's blood said: this man is guilty. The blood of Jesus says: this child is covered. Abel's blood demanded a reckoning. The blood of Jesus has already paid the reckoning in full. Every moment of every day, in the heavenly sanctuary, the blood of Jesus is speaking on your behalf. The High Priest who offered it is seated at the right hand of the Father, and the blood He offered is speaking — better things, higher things, things that silence the accuser and satisfy the justice of God simultaneously.

How a God-Incarnate Being Applies the Blood

The blood of Jesus is applied by faith, by declaration, and by the Word. Here is how the God-Incarnate being uses this weapon daily:

Over Your Mind

"The blood of Jesus is at the door of my mind. No thought that is not of God has access to me. Every imagination that exalts itself against the knowledge of Christ is cast down at the bloodline."

Over Your Home and Family

"I apply the blood of Jesus over my home, over my marriage, over my children, over every person who enters this house. The destroyer has no legal access here. We are covered by the blood."

Over Your Ministry and Daily Work

"I cover my words, my actions, my going out and my coming in today with the blood of Jesus. Every assignment of the enemy against what God has called me to do is nullified by the blood."

In Spiritual Warfare

"Satan, I resist you in the name of Jesus Christ, covered by His blood. You have no legal ground in my life. The blood has already answered every charge. I am covered. I am protected. I stand under the blood."

The blood of Jesus is not just a theological concept to be studied. It is a living weapon to be wielded. The God-Incarnate being — who carries the sperma of God, who is inhabited by the Holy Ghost, who is seated in heavenly places — walks through every day under this covering. It is your most immediate, most powerful, most available spiritual defense. Use it.

The blood of Jesus speaks better things. It purges the conscience. It silences the accuser. It covers the mind, the home, the life. The enemy cannot cross it. Apply it daily. Stand under it always. The blood is still speaking.

Chapter Twenty-Eight: What Happens When a God-Incarnate Being Dies?

*Chapter 28 · 2 Corinthians 5:1-8 · 1 Thessalonians 4:13-17 ·
Philippians 1:21-23 · KJV*

— — —

This book has spent twenty-seven chapters answering the question of what a God-Incarnate being IS right now — in this body, on this earth, in this generation. But there is a question that every reader will eventually ask, either about themselves or about someone they love:

What happens when we die?

Not the vague, sentimental answer that most people give at funerals. Not "they are in a better place" said with a shrug and a hope. The specific, theologically precise, scripturally grounded answer to what actually happens to the born-again, Spirit-filled, God-Incarnate believer at the moment the physical body stops functioning.

The answer is one of the most glorious realities in all of Scripture. And understanding it changes not only how you face death — your own and others' — but how you live right now.

The Body Is Not You

Before we answer what happens at death, we must remember what we established in Chapter Nineteen.

You are a tripartite being: spirit, soul, and body. The body is the outer shell — the earth suit, the vessel, the instrument through which you act in the physical world. It was formed from the dust and it will return to dust. But the body is not you. The real you — the regenerated spirit carrying the sperma of God, the soul that thinks and loves and remembers and chooses, the new creation that was born from above on the day of your salvation — that cannot die. It was born of incorruptible seed (1 Peter 1:23). The divine life that entered your dead spirit at the new birth is eternal by nature, because God is eternal and His seed carries His nature.

Physical death is not the end of the God-Incarnate being. It is the shedding of the earth suit.

Absent from the Body, Present with the Lord

"We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord."

— 2 Corinthians 5:8, KJV

Paul does not say "absent from the body and then after some time present with the Lord." He says absent from the body and present with the Lord — as though the two are simultaneous. As though the moment the God-Incarnate being steps out of the physical body, they step into the presence of the Lord. No waiting room. No purgatory. No period of unconscious sleep. The spirit and soul — the real person, the new creation — is immediately with Christ.

This is why Paul told the Philippians: "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain... For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better" (Philippians 1:21,23). Paul was not afraid of death. He was pulled toward it — not out of despair but out of longing. Because he knew that what waited on the other side of the door was not darkness and silence but the immediate, unmediated, unobstructed presence of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Right now, in this life, we know Christ through faith, through the Word, through prayer, through the witness of the Spirit within us. These are real. These are genuine. But they are a glass darkly (1 Corinthians 13:12). What we will know in His presence — face to face, spirit to Spirit, without the limitations of a body not yet glorified and a mind not yet fully renewed — is beyond what language can carry.

The Body Is Not Abandoned — It Is Upgraded

"For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air."

— 1 Thessalonians 4:16-17, KJV

Death for the God-Incarnate being is not permanent physical absence. The body will be reclaimed. At the resurrection — when the Lord descends with a shout and the dead in Christ rise first — the physical body will be raised and transformed. Not the same body restored to its pre-death condition. A glorified body. A resurrection body. The same body but transfigured — the way Jesus' resurrection body was recognizably Him but no longer subject to pain, decay, hunger, fatigue, or death.

"Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself."

— Philippians 3:21, KJV

The prototype appears again. Jesus' glorified resurrection body is the prototype of what every God-Incarnate being will receive. The same transformation that happened to His body on the morning of the third day — and was confirmed in the Upper Room, on the road to Emmaus, on the shores of Galilee — will happen to ours. He is the firstborn from the dead. We are the many who follow.

The Complete Arc: From New Birth to Final Glory

Now the full picture of the God-Incarnate life can be seen in its totality:

Before salvation: Body alive. Soul alive. Spirit dead.

At the new birth: Spirit instantly regenerated. Soul beginning renewal. Body unchanged but now the temple of the Holy Ghost.

During the sanctified life: Spirit growing in God. Soul being renewed by the Word. Body presented as a living sacrifice.

At physical death: Spirit and soul immediately with Christ. Body returned to the earth temporarily.

At the resurrection: Spirit, soul, and glorified body permanently reunited. The complete, fully redeemed, fully glorified God-Incarnate being — exactly as predestined in Romans 8:29, conformed to the image of the Son.

And then eternity. Not a static cloud with harps. An eternal, active, ever-expanding exploration of the infinite God by beings made to know Him — spirit, soul, and glorified body together, from glory to glory, world without end.

This is where the new birth leads. This is the destination that was written into your predestination the moment the sperma of God entered your dead spirit. You were born again for this. Do not waste the journey.

To live is Christ. To die is gain. Absent from the body, present with the Lord. The body will be raised. The spirit and soul are already His. From new birth to final glory — this is where the God-Incarnate life leads. Do not be afraid of the door. Christ is on the other side of it.

Chapter Twenty-Nine: The God-Incarnate Marriage — Two New Creations, One Covenant

*Chapter 29 · Ephesians 5:22-33 · Genesis 2:18-24 · 1
Corinthians 7:3-5 · KJV*

— — —

Everything this book has established about the new human species must now be applied to the most intimate human relationship that exists: marriage. Because the God-Incarnate being does not live alone. Many of the men and women who carry the sperma of God, who are inhabited by the Holy Ghost, who are seated in heavenly places — they are also husbands and wives. And the question of how that identity transforms the marriage relationship is one of the most practical and most neglected questions in the church.

When two God-Incarnate beings enter a marriage covenant, something happens that is categorically different from anything the world calls marriage. Two new creations — each carrying the divine seed, each indwelt by the same Holy Ghost, each citizens of the same heavenly kingdom — become one flesh. The union that results is not merely a social contract or a romantic partnership. It is a covenant between three parties: the husband, the wife, and the God who inhabits them both.

The Foundation: Christ and the Church

"Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it."

— Ephesians 5:25, KJV

Paul does not give husbands a relationship model from the world. He does not say love your wife the way a good man loves a good woman. He says love your wife the way Christ loved the church — and then immediately defines what that love looks like: He gave Himself for it. Sacrificially. Completely. Without reservation. Without requiring that the church first become worthy of the love.

Christ did not love the church because it was lovely. He loved the church and gave Himself for it so that it might become lovely — "that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word, that he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing" (Ephesians 5:26–27). The love came first. The transformation followed the love.

This is the standard for the God-Incarnate husband. His love for his wife is not conditional on her performance, her beauty, her emotional state, or her spiritual maturity. It is the same love that Christ demonstrated — given first, given fully, given sacrificially, given as a means of her sanctification and flourishing. The God-Incarnate husband is not the head of the home because he is the smartest or the strongest or the most spiritually mature. He is the head because Christ is his model, and Christ laid down His life for those He leads.

The Wife: Strength, Not Submission to Weakness

"Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord."

— Ephesians 5:22, KJV

The word "submit" has been one of the most abused words in the history of Christian marriage teaching. It has been used to justify domination, silence, abuse, and the suppression of the God-Incarnate woman's gifts, calling, and voice. That is not what Paul wrote and it is not what the Spirit intended.

The Greek word is hupotasso — to arrange under, to voluntarily place oneself in an ordered relationship. It is a military term describing the order of a unit — not the inferiority of the soldiers but the structure that allows them to function effectively together. The God-Incarnate wife is not less than her husband. She is not less gifted, less called, less filled with the Holy Ghost, less important to the kingdom of God. She is fully a God-Incarnate being — carrying the same sperma theou, the same divine nature, the same citizenship in heaven. The voluntary ordering of the marriage relationship does not diminish her. It establishes the structure within which both of them can flourish.

The Proverbs 31 woman is the clearest portrait of what the God-Incarnate wife looks like in practice. She is a businesswoman, a real estate investor, a manufacturer, a community leader, a teacher of wisdom, and a woman whose husband trusts her completely (Proverbs 31:11). She is not a diminished, silent, housebound shadow. She is a woman of extraordinary strength and capability whose life is an expression of the God who inhabits her.

The Holy Ghost as the Third Person in the Marriage

Here is the dimension of the God-Incarnate marriage that the world has no category for: the Holy Ghost is not an outside influence on this union. He is a resident within both partners. When a God-Incarnate husband and wife pray together, they are not two people talking to a distant God. They are two vessels inhabited by the same Spirit, bringing their agreement to the One who already lives inside both of them.

Jesus said: "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them" (Matthew 18:20). The God-Incarnate marriage is a gathering of two in His name every single day. The presence of Christ is not something this couple has to invite — it is something they carry into every room, every conversation, every conflict, every celebration. The same Holy Ghost who inhabits the husband inhabits the wife. When they are in unity, the agreement they reach is amplified by the divine Resident who lives within the covenant.

"Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven."

— Matthew 18:19, KJV

Conflict in the God-Incarnate Marriage

Two God-Incarnate beings in the same house will still have conflict. The soul — the personality, the emotions, the preferences, the wounds carried from before salvation — is still in process. Sanctification is not completed at the altar. Two people who are both being renewed by the Word, both being transformed by the Spirit, both carrying different backgrounds and different temperaments, will disagree. The question is not whether conflict happens. The question is what kind of conflict it is and how it is resolved.

The God-Incarnate couple fights for the marriage, not against each other. When conflict arises, the enemy is the real adversary — not the spouse. The principalities and powers that work against covenant, against unity, against the demonstration of Christ and the church that a God-Incarnate marriage is meant to be — those are the enemy. The husband and wife are on the same side. They are fighting the same war. The conflict between them is what happens when the enemy successfully diverts their fire at each other instead of at him.

"Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath: Neither give place to the devil" (Ephesians 4:26–27). The instruction is direct: resolve it before the sun goes down. Not because the anger is always wrong. But because unresolved anger gives the enemy a foothold — a legal place to stand and work — inside the covenant. The God-Incarnate couple closes that door before it becomes a residence.

Intimacy: The Physical Dimension of the Covenant

"Let the husband render unto the wife due benevolence: and likewise also the wife unto the husband. The wife hath not power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not power of his own body, but the wife."

— 1 Corinthians 7:3-4, KJV

The God-Incarnate being does not treat physical intimacy in marriage as a concession to the flesh. It is a God-designed, God-ordained, God-blessed dimension of the covenant. Paul's language is unambiguous: render due benevolence. Give what is owed. Mutual giving. Mutual belonging. The physical union of husband and wife in the context of the marriage covenant is one of the ways the God-Incarnate couple demonstrates and deepens their covenant with each other and with God.

Purity before marriage is non-negotiable for the God-Incarnate being — not because the body is evil but because the body is the temple of the Holy Ghost and sexual sin is uniquely destructive to that temple (1 Corinthians 6:18-20). But within the covenant of marriage, physical intimacy is a gift, a bond, a language of covenant that God designed for His people to enjoy without guilt, without shame, and without restraint toward each other.

Raising God-Incarnate Children

The God-Incarnate marriage, when it produces children, has an extraordinary opportunity and responsibility: to raise the next generation of the new human species. Children born into a home where both parents are born again, Spirit-filled, and walking in the fullness of who they are in Christ are growing up in the most spiritually rich environment available on earth.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it" (Proverbs 22:6). The training is not merely behavioral. It is identity formation. The God-Incarnate parent teaches their child not just how to behave but who they are — made in the image of God, loved by the Father, candidates for the new birth, potential members of the new human species. The conversation about salvation, about the Holy Ghost, about the blood of Jesus, about prayer and the Word — these happen at the dinner table, at bedtime, in the car, woven into the ordinary fabric of daily life.

Deuteronomy 6:7 says: "Thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." Not just Sunday morning. Not just grace before meals. Continuously. Naturally. As the atmosphere of the home.

The God-Incarnate home is the most powerful discipleship environment in the church. What happens in that home — the prayers, the declarations, the worship, the way conflict is resolved, the way forgiveness is practiced, the way the Word is honored — forms the spiritual identity of the children who grow up inside it. You are not just building a marriage. You are building a legacy.

Two God-Incarnate beings. One covenant.
Three Persons — Father, Son, and Holy Ghost — are resident in both. Love as Christ loved the church. Give yourself for your spouse. Fight the enemy, not each other. Pray together. Stay together. You are not building a marriage. You are building a legacy for the new human species.

Chapter Thirty: Mental Health and the New Creation

*Chapter 30 · Romans 12:2 · Philippians 4:6-8 · 2 Timothy 1:7
· KJV*

— — —

This chapter is written from a unique vantage point. I am an ordained minister who has preached the new birth, the baptism of the Holy Ghost, and the God-Incarnate life for decades. I am also a licensed clinical social worker — a trained mental health professional who has sat with hundreds of people in clinical settings, listened to their stories, assessed their struggles, and walked alongside them through some of the most painful and complex experiences of human life. These two credentials do not conflict. They complete each other.

And together they have taught me something that the church desperately needs to hear: being born again does not automatically heal every psychological wound. Being filled with the Holy Ghost does not instantly resolve every mental health challenge. Carrying the sperma of God in your regenerated spirit does not mean your soul — with its memories, its trauma, its learned patterns, its chemical and neurological realities — is instantly and completely transformed.

The new birth is instant. Sanctification is a process. And mental health is part of that process.

Understanding the Tripartite Being in Mental Health

Chapter Nineteen established the three dimensions of the human person: spirit, soul, and body. Mental health challenges can originate in any of the three dimensions — and understanding which dimension is primarily affected changes how we address it.

When the Problem Is Spiritual

Some mental and emotional distress has a primary spiritual root. Spiritual attack, demonic oppression, unconfessed sin that is producing guilt and shame, a lack of connection to God that leaves the soul without its primary anchor — these are real, they produce real psychological symptoms, and they require spiritual solutions. Prayer, the Word, the blood of Jesus, the community of the body of Christ, deliverance where needed — these are the appropriate tools.

The church is right to take the spiritual dimension of mental health seriously. The error is when the church takes ONLY the spiritual dimension seriously and dismisses or minimizes the soul and body dimensions.

When the Problem Is in the Soul

The soul — the seat of the emotions, the will, the intellect, the memory, the imagination — is not instantly perfected at salvation. It is in process. It carries the history of everything that happened to it before salvation and much of what happened after. Childhood trauma. Abuse. Neglect. Loss. Betrayal. Years of thought patterns that were formed in an environment that was not the Word of God. Emotional wounds that did not automatically close the moment the sperma of God entered the spirit.

Romans 12:2 says "be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind." The word "renewing" is anakainosis in Greek — a continuous, ongoing process of renovation. Paul did not say "your mind was instantly renewed at salvation." He said be ye transformed — present tense, active voice, continuous action. The renewal of the soul is a lifetime work.

This is why a born-again, Spirit-filled believer can still struggle with depression, anxiety, grief, trauma responses, relational dysfunction, and disordered thinking. Not because their salvation is not real. Not because they lack faith. But because their soul — the dimension of their person that carries their emotional and psychological history — is still in the process of being renewed.

When the Problem Is in the Body

The body is not yet glorified. It is subject to biological, chemical, and neurological realities that are part of the fallen physical world. Depression can be a symptom of a chemical imbalance in the brain — a physical condition in the body dimension of the tripartite being that requires medical attention the same way a broken leg requires a cast. Seeking medical help for a biological condition is not a failure of faith. It is good stewardship of the body God has entrusted to you.

What the Church Gets Wrong

The church has done tremendous damage in two opposite directions. Some churches tell struggling believers: if you were really saved, if you had enough faith, if you prayed more and sinned less, you would not be depressed, you would not be anxious, you would not need medication, you would not need counseling. This teaching causes people who are already suffering to add shame, self-condemnation, and spiritual confusion to the burden they are already carrying. It is not true. And it is not kind. And it drives people away from the church at the very moment they most need it.

Other churches have gone in the opposite direction — reducing all mental and spiritual struggle to psychological categories, minimizing the spiritual dimension, treating the Word of God as one resource among many rather than the primary authority over the human mind and soul. This approach leaves believers without the most powerful tools available to them.

The God-Incarnate approach holds both. The Word of God is the primary authority. Prayer is the primary practice. The Holy Ghost is the primary Counselor — Jesus called Him the Paraclete, which means the one who comes alongside. And within that framework, clinical mental health care — therapy, counseling, medication when medically appropriate — is not a contradiction of faith. It is the application of wisdom to the body and soul dimensions of the tripartite being.

Specific Conditions Through the Lens of the New Creation

Depression

Depression is one of the most common mental health conditions in the world and one of the most misunderstood in the church. The God-Incarnate being who is experiencing depression is not experiencing a spiritual failure. They may be experiencing a body-dimension challenge (neurological, hormonal, chemical), a soul-dimension challenge (grief, loss, trauma, prolonged stress), a spiritual-dimension challenge (disconnection from God, spiritual attack, unresolved sin), or — most commonly — some combination of all three.

The Psalmist experienced depression. "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? And why art thou disquieted in me?" (Psalm 42:5). The prophet Elijah experienced it so severely that he sat under a juniper tree and asked God to take his life (1 Kings 19:4). These were not faithless men. They were men in the depths of a soul experience that the God-Incarnate life does not exempt you from. What distinguished them was that they brought the despair to God rather than away from Him.

For the God-Incarnate being experiencing depression: bring it to God. Speak the Word over your mind even when you do not feel it. Stay connected to the body of Christ — isolation is one of depression's primary strategies. Seek clinical help without shame. The same God who gave you the Holy Ghost also gave physicians and counselors their knowledge and their skill.

Anxiety

"Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."

— Philippians 4:6-7, KJV

The Greek word translated "careful" is merimnao — to be anxious, to be pulled in different directions, to have the mind divided between multiple sources of fear. Paul's instruction is not "stop feeling anxious through willpower." It is replace anxiety with prayer. The antidote to anxiety is not positive thinking or self-discipline. It is bringing every specific fear, every specific worry, every specific source of dread to God in prayer with thanksgiving — and receiving in exchange the peace that passes understanding.

"God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind" (2 Timothy 1:7). The God-Incarnate being has been given a sound mind. Not by their own effort but by the Spirit who inhabits them. When anxiety is an ongoing, clinical-level condition that does not resolve through prayer and the Word alone, seeking professional support is wisdom, not weakness.

Trauma

Trauma is what happens when the soul and body experience something so overwhelming that the normal processing mechanisms are bypassed and the experience becomes stored in a way that continues to affect the person long after the event is over. Trauma is not a spiritual failure. It is a wound — as real as a physical wound, and like a physical wound, it requires proper care to heal.

The God-Incarnate being who has experienced trauma — abuse, violence, loss, neglect, war, assault, disaster — is not less spiritual for still carrying the effects of that experience. Jesus bore our griefs and carried our sorrows (Isaiah 53:4). He did not despise the wounds. He carried them. The God who was wounded for our transgressions understands the wounded soul in a way that no human counselor fully can. And He has provided both His Spirit and skilled human helpers for the work of healing.

Addiction

Addiction is one of the most complex challenges a God-Incarnate being can face — because it involves all three dimensions of the tripartite being simultaneously. The body develops a physical dependence. The soul builds emotional patterns around the substance or behavior. And the spirit, though regenerated, is being grieved and quenched by a lifestyle that keeps the person in bondage.

The good news is that the God who entered the dead human spirit at the new birth is more than sufficient to break every chain. "Greater is he that is in you than he that is in the world" (1 John 4:4) applies to addiction as fully as to any other form of bondage. But freedom from addiction typically requires the full deployment of all available resources: the power of the Holy Ghost, the authority of the blood of Jesus, the Word of God, accountability within the body of Christ, and — in many cases — professional clinical support. Using all of these is not a failure of faith. It is wisdom. It is the full stewardship of everything God has provided for the healing of His people.

The God-Incarnate Being as a Mental Health Resource

Because I carry both a ministerial calling and a clinical social work license, I want to say something directly to every God-Incarnate being who is in relationship with someone who is struggling mentally or emotionally:

You are equipped to be one of the most powerful agents of healing in that person's life. Not because you have all the clinical answers. But because you carry the Holy Ghost. You carry the Word of God. You carry the blood of Jesus. You carry the capacity to pray, to intercede, to speaking life, to stand in the gap for a soul that cannot stand for itself in that moment.

The God-Incarnate church — if it will hold the Word and the clinical together without dismissing either — has the potential to be the most comprehensive healing environment available to broken humanity. That is what the body of Christ was designed to be.

Mental Illness Is Real — And So Is Your Deliverer

Let me speak directly now — pastor to patient, minister to soul, licensed clinical social worker to every person reading this who has ever been told, or has ever told themselves, that their condition is permanent, their darkness is irreversible, or that God has somehow left them behind in their struggle.

Mental illness is real. I see it on a consistent basis in my clinical practice. I do not minimize it, dismiss it, or spiritualize it away. Depression is real. Anxiety is real. Trauma responses are real. And what the medical community calls chemical imbalance — the neurological and biological dimension of mental health — is also real.

But here is what is also real: God.

“A merry heart doeth good like a medicine: but a broken spirit drieth the bones.”

— Proverbs 17:22 (KJV)

Solomon wrote that three thousand years before the discovery of endorphins, serotonin, or dopamine. And yet the wisdom of God anticipated what neuroscience would eventually confirm: the emotional life of a human being has a direct and measurable effect on the chemistry of the body. Joy is not just a feeling. It is medicine. Peace is not just a state of mind. It is a biological event. When the Holy Ghost brings genuine joy and genuine peace into the spirit of a born-again believer, He is not bypassing the biology of the body — He is working through it, regulating it, restoring it from the inside out.

The emotional dimension of the God-Incarnate life is not separate from mental health. It IS mental health at its deepest level.

The Most Severe Case of Mental Illness in the Bible

I want to take you to a passage of Scripture that every person struggling with any mental health condition needs to read, receive, and hold onto for the rest of their life.

"And they came over unto the other side of the sea, into the country of the Gadarenes. And when he was come out of the ship, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit, Who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no man could bind him, no, not with chains: Because that he had been often bound with fetters and chains, and the chains had been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters broken in pieces: neither could any man tame him. And always, night and day, he was in the mountains, and in the tombs, crying, and cutting himself with stones."

— Mark 5:1-5 (KJV)

By every clinical and spiritual measure, this man was in the worst possible condition a human being can be in. He was isolated — living among the dead. He was violent — uncontrollable by any human force. He was self-harming — cutting himself with stones. He was tormented day and night without rest. No medicine could reach him. No chains could hold him. No human intervention had worked. And he had been this way long enough that the entire community had given up on him.

If there was ever a case that seemed beyond hope, this was it.

“And he asked him, What is thy name? And he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.”

— Mark 5:9 (KJV)

Legion. A Roman legion consisted of between three thousand and six thousand soldiers. This man was not battling one demon. He was not battling ten. He was carrying a legion — potentially six thousand unclean spirits — in one human body. The most extreme case of spiritual and psychological torment recorded in human history.

And Jesus spoke one word.

"Go."

“And forthwith Jesus gave them leave. And the unclean spirits went out.”

— Mark 5:13 (KJV)

Six thousand demons. One word. Gone.

“And they come to Jesus, and see him that was possessed with the devil, and had the legion, sitting, and clothed, and in his right mind.”

— Mark 5:15 (KJV)

In his right mind. That phrase is the most beautiful clinical outcome in the history of humanity. The man who could not be tamed, who lived among the dead, who cut himself with stones, who had not known a moment of peace — was found sitting. Clothed. And in his right mind.

That is your God. That is the One who inhabits you.

Your Case Is Not Legion's Case

I need you to hear this with everything inside you. Whatever you are dealing with right now — whatever label has been placed on your condition, whatever diagnosis is in your file, whatever darkness has been following you, whatever morning you have woken up and felt the weight before you even opened your eyes — your case is nowhere close to what Legion was carrying.

If one word — Go — was powerful enough to cast out six thousand demons from one man and leave him sitting clothed and in his right mind, then whatever you are carrying right now can also be addressed by the same Jesus. The same power. The same word.

He has not changed. He is the same yesterday, today, and forever (Hebrews 13:8). What He did for Legion in the country of the Gadarenes, He can do for you in your bedroom, your hospital room, your counselor's office, your car, your kitchen — wherever you are reading these words right now.

Your case is not Legion's case. And Legion was completely restored. One word was sufficient for six thousand. Whatever you are carrying is within the reach of that same word. He spoke then. He is speaking now. Let Him speak to yours.

You Do Not Have to Beat Yourself Up

As a licensed clinical social worker, I say this to my patients consistently and I say it to you now with the same conviction: never — under any circumstance, no matter what happens — never beat yourself up.

Self-condemnation is not humility. It is not godly sorrow. It is the enemy using your own voice against you, and it is one of the most destructive forces in the healing process. The voice that says "I should be better by now" — that is not the Holy Ghost. The voice that says "I have been dealing with this too long, something must be fundamentally wrong with me" — that is not the voice of your heavenly Father.

What I remind my patients — and what I remind you now — is this: remember your true nature. Remember your true self. Remember your true personality. Even on the hardest days, even in the darkest seasons, even when the chemistry of your body is working against you and the circumstances of your life are overwhelming — you are still, at the core of your being, a God-Incarnate being. The sperma of God still remains in you. The Holy Ghost still inhabits you. Your citizenship is still in heaven. None of that changed on your worst day.

The real you is love. Joy. Peace. A sound mind. Understanding. Compassion. That is who God made you to be in Christ. That is the new creation. That is the species you belong to. And no season of darkness, no chemical imbalance, no diagnosis, no history of trauma changes your fundamental identity in God.

Hope Is Not Naive — It Is Theological

I want to be honest with you. There will be some who read this book and walk into the fullness of what is described here — complete restoration, total freedom, the God-Incarnate life operating in full expression in spirit, soul, and body. And there will be others who press toward that fullness and experience it partially, progressively, over time. And there will be some — through no fault of their own, through the complexity of biology and history and the fallen world — who do not attain to the complete expression of this life in this body on this earth.

I do not want to be the minister who promises healing to everyone and then leaves the ones who are still struggling feeling like they failed God. That is not the gospel. That is cruelty dressed in religious language.

What I want you to know — what I insist you hold onto — is that the fullness is still there. The promise is still real. The will of God for your complete restoration is still yes and amen. Your inability to fully access it in this season does not mean God has withdrawn it. It means you are in process. And in process is exactly where every member of the new human species lives — from new birth to final glory, from glory to glory, in the hands of a God who is not finished with any of us yet.

You can look forward. You can have hope. Not the thin, fragile hope of optimism — but the thick, anchored, theologically grounded hope of a person who knows that the God who spoke one word and delivered Legion has spoken His Word over your life and does not take it back.

"Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ."

— Philippians 1:6 (KJV)

He began it. He will complete it. You do not have to rush the process, force the outcome, or condemn yourself for where you are today. You simply have to stay connected to the Vine, keep the Word in your spirit, keep your eyes on the author and finisher of your faith, and trust that what God started in you on the day of your new birth — He is faithful to bring to completion.

That is not naive. That is the most sophisticated, most intellectually rigorous, most clinically and spiritually sound position a human being can hold.

That is the God-Incarnate life.

— — —

God Is Able — And He Is Willing

I want to speak now to a group of people who may be reading this book and wondering whether what has been described in these pages is available to them. Not because they doubt God's power — but because they look at the choices they have made, the consequences those choices produced in their body, and they wonder whether the distance between where they are and where God is might be too great.

I want to answer that question as directly as I know how.

He Sent Them Out to Heal — And He Sends You

Before we close this chapter, I must establish something that changes everything about how the God-Incarnate being approaches sickness, disease, and physical damage in their own life and in the lives of those around them. Jesus did not simply heal people during His earthly ministry and then close the door when He ascended. He transferred the mission. He commissioned His disciples — and through them, every born-again believer in every generation — to continue exactly what He was doing.

"And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give."

— Matthew 10:7-8 (KJV)

Heal the sick. Raise the dead. Cleanse the lepers. Cast out devils. This was not an assignment given exclusively to the twelve apostles for the first century only. Jesus said in John 14:12 — and we established this in Chapter Twenty-Three — that the works He did, believers would do also. Greater works. The commission to heal was not retired when the last apostle died. It was transferred to the new human species.

"Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick."

— Luke 9:1-2 (KJV)

Power and authority. Not suggestions. Not possibilities. Power — dunamis, the explosive ability of God — and authority — exousia, the legal right to exercise that power. Both were given to the disciples. And through the new birth and the baptism of the Holy Ghost, both are available to the God-Incarnate being today.

"And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues... they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover."

— Mark 16:17-18 (KJV)

Them that believe. Not them that have a theological degree. Not them that have been in ministry for thirty years. Them that believe. If you believe — the signs follow. Laying hands on the sick is not the exclusive domain of the pastor or the evangelist. It belongs to every member of the new human species who will believe and act on what they have been given.

The Maimed Were Made Whole — They Were Swinging New Arms

Now I want to take you to a passage that I believe is one of the most staggering healings recorded in the entire New Testament. Not one person healed. Not ten. Great multitudes. And among them were a specific group of people whose healing staggers the imagination.

"And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: Insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel."

— Matthew 15:30-31 (KJV)

I want you to stop at one word. Maimed.

The Greek word translated maimed is kullos. It does not mean injured. It does not mean weakened or damaged. Kullos means a limb that is completely missing — amputated, absent, gone. These were people who came to Jesus with arms that were not there. Legs that had been lost. Hands that were absent. Parts of the body that had been removed or had never formed.

And the word translated whole is holos. Complete. Entire. Every part intact. Not partially restored. Not improved. Holos — the full original design, perfectly reconstructed.

The maimed were made whole.

Missing limbs were restored.

Absent parts came back.

And the multitude wondered. They were astonished. Because they were watching people who had come to Jesus with empty spaces where arms used to be — and those people were walking away from Jesus moving limbs that had not existed when they arrived. They were using hands they had not had. They were standing on legs they had come without. They were marveling at their own bodies — swinging arms that were brand new, praising God with hands that moments before had not been there.

That same Jesus — the prototype of the new human species, the One whose Spirit now inhabits you — has not changed. He is the same yesterday, today, and forever.

Peter and the Lame Man — Leaping with New Ankle Bones

"Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk. And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up: and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God."

— Acts 3:6-8 (KJV)

This man had been lame from his mother's womb. Forty years of life without the use of his legs. He was carried to the temple gate every day to beg. He had never walked. Never stood on his own. His ankle bones — the very structural foundation of the ability to walk — had never functioned.

Peter did not have silver or gold. But he had something that money cannot purchase and no disease can resist: the name and the power of Jesus Christ of Nazareth. He took the man by the right hand. He spoke the name. And immediately — not gradually, not over time, not with physical therapy — immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength.

And the first thing that man did with his newly functioning legs was leap. He did not test them cautiously. He did not take careful measured steps. He leaped. Because when God restores what was missing, He does not restore it at partial capacity. He restores it to full, joyful, leaping, praising-God expression.

That is what restoration looks like in the hands of the God who inhabits you.

Satan Is Not God — Your Mistake Is Not Your Master

I need you to receive this truth at the deepest level of your spirit before you close this chapter. Whatever happened in your life — whatever choices were made, whatever damage was done, whatever diseases were contracted, whatever parts of your body were altered — hear me clearly:

Satan is not God.
Your mistake is not God.
Your past is not God.

Satan is not the origin of your life and he is not the ruler of your future. He had access to your life only for the season when your spirit was dead and you were living outside of the covering of God. But the moment the sperma of God entered your dead spirit — the moment you became a new creation — the terms changed completely. Satan lost his legal access. The blood of Jesus covered the debt. And the God who created your body in the first place took up permanent residence inside you.

Your mistake does not define you. Your disease does not define you. Your diagnosis does not define you. Your surgical history does not define you. Your sexual past does not define you. The only thing that defines a God-Incarnate being is the nature of the One who inhabits them — and that nature is wholeness, restoration, divine life, and exceeding abundantly above all you can ask or think.

| "Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; Who redeemeth thy life from

| destruction; who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies."

— Psalm 103:3-4 (KJV)

All. Not some. Not most. Not the ones that are not too severe or not too embarrassing. All thine iniquities. All thy diseases. Your entire life redeemed from destruction and crowned — crowned — with lovingkindness and tender mercies.

God loves you. Not the version of you that has it all together. Not the version of you that has never made a mistake. You. As you are right now. With everything you carry. With everything you have done and everything that has been done to you. He loves you with a love that sent His only Son to a cross so that not one drop of His wrath would fall on you.

He wants you whole. He is excited to restore you. He is not reluctant, not hesitant, not holding back waiting for you to deserve it. He is running toward you — the way the father ran toward the prodigal son when he was still a great way off (Luke 15:20). Arms open. No condemnation. Full restoration.

Come to Him exactly as you are. And watch what He does.

— — —

Satan is not God. Your mistake is not your master. Your past is not your future. He heals ALL thy diseases. He restores the maimed to whole. He makes the lame leap. He raises the dead. He sends YOU out with the same power.

Come as you are. Be made whole. In the name of Jesus.

There is no distance.

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us."

— Ephesians 3:20 (KJV)

Exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think. That phrase does not have an asterisk next to it. It does not say exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think — except for certain categories of sin or certain types of physical damage. It means exactly what it says. There is no situation, no condition, no consequence, no physical reality that places a ceiling on what God is able to do. The only ceiling is the one we place on Him through our unbelief.

God Is Not Angry With You

Before we go any further into what God can do, we must establish what God feels. Because many people who have lived through the consequences of their choices carry a deep, silent, persistent belief that God is angry with them. That He is watching their suffering with crossed arms. That they are getting what they deserve and the best they can hope for is that He might eventually relent.

That is not the God of the Bible. That is not the God who inhabits the born-again believer. And it is not the truth.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

— John 3:16-17 (KJV)

God sent Jesus not to condemn but to save. And on the cross, every ounce of the wrath of God against sin — every drop of divine judgment that the accumulated sin of all humanity deserved — fell on Jesus. Not partially. Completely. Jesus absorbed it all. Every bit of holy anger that your sin deserved was poured out on Him at Calvary, and when He said "It is finished," He meant it.

God is not angry with you anymore. He has no more wrath stored up for you. What He has stored up for you is mercy. Grace. Healing. Restoration. The exceeding abundantly above of Ephesians 3:20.

Healing from the Consequences of Sexual Sin

There are those reading this who allowed themselves to become involved in illicit sexual behavior — and that behavior has produced consequences in the body. Sexually transmitted diseases. Physical damage. Medical diagnoses that arrived as the direct result of choices made in moments of weakness, confusion, addiction, or deception.

I want you to hear this clearly and without any qualification whatsoever:

God is not only able and willing to forgive the sin — He is able and willing to heal the disease.

"Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases."

— Psalm 103:3 (KJV)

All thine iniquities. All thy diseases. The same God who forgives the sin is the same God who heals the disease — and the psalm joins them together in one breath on purpose. Because God does not forgive the spiritual condition and leave the physical consequence untouched. He is able to go all the way.

"And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed."

— Matthew 8:3 (KJV)

The leper came to Jesus and said: "Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean." He was not doubting God's ability. He was uncertain about God's willingness. And Jesus answered that question for all time with two words: I will. Not I might. Not I will consider it. Not I will heal you but leave the scar as a reminder. I will. Be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy was cleansed.

Whatever STD, whatever physical consequence, whatever medical diagnosis resulted from choices made in your past — bring it to Jesus with the same question the leper brought. Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And receive the same answer: I will. Be thou clean.

To Those Who Have Altered Their Bodies

I want to speak with particular tenderness and particular boldness to those who — out of deep pain, deep confusion, a desperate search for identity, and the influence of a world that did not tell them the truth about who they were — allowed their bodies to be surgically altered in pursuit of a gender identity that did not match their biology.

First: God is not angry with you. Let that settle before anything else. Whatever the path that led to those decisions — and for many it was a path of profound suffering, of feeling trapped in a body that did not feel like home, of being told by a culture that celebrated the alteration as liberation — God sees the pain beneath the decision. He is not standing over you with condemnation. He is reaching toward you with the same love that reached toward every broken person who ever came to Him.

Second: the same God who formed Adam from the dust of the ground — who took that which was not alive and breathed into it and it became a living soul — is the same God who is able to restore. The God who spoke the cosmos into existence with words. The God who parted the Red Sea. The God who raised Lazarus from four days of death. The God who spoke one word and delivered Legion from six thousand demons. That God is not limited by what a surgeon has done.

▮ "Behold, I am the LORD, the God of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?"

— Jeremiah 32:27 (KJV)

Is there any thing too hard for Me. God Himself asks the question — and the answer He expects is no. There is nothing too hard for Him. Not the complexity of the human body. Not the alterations that have been made to it. Not the hormones, not the surgeries, not the years that have passed since. Nothing is too hard for the God who formed the body in the first place.

What I want you to hold onto is this: God knows what He designed you to be. He knew you before you were formed in your mother's womb (Jeremiah 1:5). He knows the original design. And the God who designed you is fully capable of restoring you — spirit, soul, and body — according to His original intention, according to your faith, in the name of Jesus.

Be it unto you according to your faith. That is not a small promise. That is an open-ended, no-ceiling, no-exception invitation to bring every broken, altered, damaged, confused, and wounded dimension of your being to the One who made you and let Him work.

According to Your Faith — Stretch It

I want to close this section by speaking to your faith directly. Not to your feelings. Not to your medical file. Not to what the doctors have said or what the diagnosis confirms or what the mirror shows. To your faith.

■ "According to your faith be it unto you."
— Matthew 9:29 (KJV)

Jesus said this to two blind men who followed Him crying out for mercy. He did not check their credentials. He did not review their history. He did not examine the severity or the duration of their blindness. He asked one question: "Believe ye that I am able to do this?" And when they said yes — their eyes were opened.

The ceiling on what God does in your life is not set by the severity of your condition. It is not set by the category of your sin or the extent of the physical damage. It is set by the size of your faith. And faith, the Scripture tells us, comes by hearing — and hearing by the Word of God (Romans 10:17). Every time you hear the Word, every time you read these pages, every time you open your Bible and let the living God speak to your spirit — your faith grows. The ceiling rises. The possible expands.

There are many people reading this book right now who contracted diseases and sustained physical damage they wish with everything inside them had never happened. I am not dismissing the reality of what they carry. I am not offering empty religious optimism that ignores the genuine suffering of the human body and soul.

I am telling you what God told me when I asked Him years ago how I could not sin — He gave me a Word. And that Word was sufficient. Whatever your condition, whatever your history, whatever your body carries right now — God has a Word for it. And His Word is sufficient.

You do not have to just wish you were different. You can know that you can be completely restored — as though nothing ever happened. That is not wishful thinking. That is the promise of the God who said He is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that you ask or think, by the power that already resides within you.

That power is the Holy Ghost. And He has already moved in.

— — —

God is not angry with you. All His wrath fell on Jesus. It is finished. He forgives the sin AND heals the disease. No condition is too hard for Him. No body is beyond His original design. No damage is outside His restoration. According to your faith — be it unto you. In the name of Jesus.

You do not have to stay here. It is God's will for you to come out. Your case is not Legion's case — and Legion was completely restored. Never beat yourself up. Remember who you really are: love, joy, peace, a sound mind. The God who began this work in you will complete it. Look forward. He is not finished with you yet.

God has not given us the spirit of fear. But of power. And of love. And of a sound mind. The new birth does not exempt the soul from struggle. It gives the soul the tools to navigate it. Bring the pain to God. Use every resource He has provided. The Spirit who raised Christ from the dead dwells in you. He is more than sufficient for everything your soul is carrying.

Chapter Thirty-One: Deep Intercession — Standing in the Gap for Cities, Nations, and Generations

*Chapter 31 · Ezekiel 22:30 · Romans 8:26-27 · Isaiah 62:6-7
· KJV*

— — —

There is a dimension of prayer that goes beyond personal petition. Beyond asking God for what you need. Beyond even the model prayer of Matthew 6. There is a prayer that costs something. A prayer that positions the one praying between the condition that exists and the condition that God desires — and refuses to move until heaven breaks through. A prayer that has changed the destiny of cities, reversed the judgment of nations, and altered the course of generations.

It is called intercession. And it is not for the spiritually timid.

"And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none."

— Ezekiel 22:30, KJV

God looked for an intercessor. He looked for a human being who would stand between His holiness and the nation's sin — who would take up the position of advocate, of mediator, of the one who says: Lord, not yet. Give them more time. I am standing here between

You and them, and I will not move. And He found none.
And the judgment came.

This passage is one of the most sobering in all of Scripture. God was not looking for an angel. He was not looking for a vision or a sign or a supernatural intervention. He was looking for a man. A woman. A human being — a member of the new human species — who would stand in the gap. The destiny of a nation hung on whether one person would assume that position. And the position was vacant.

The God-Incarnate being was born for that position.

What Intercession Is

Intercession is the act of standing between two parties on behalf of the one who cannot stand for themselves. The English word comes from the Latin intercedere — to go between, to come in between, to mediate. The intercessor occupies a position between the one who needs mercy and the One who dispenses it. Between the city under judgment and the God who loves it. Between the generation that is perishing and the salvation that is available.

Jesus Christ is the ultimate intercessor. Hebrews 7:25 says He "ever liveth to make intercession" for those who come to God through Him. Right now, at this moment, the risen Christ is at the right hand of the Father — not passive, not resting, not simply present. He is interceding. The High Priest who offered His own blood in the heavenly sanctuary is continuously interceding for His people.

And the Holy Ghost who inhabits the God-Incarnate being is also interceding. Romans 8:26 says the Spirit

"maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered." When the God-Incarnate being opens their spirit to intercession, they are not praying alone. They are joining a prayer that the Son is already praying at the right hand of the Father and the Spirit is already praying from within them. The intercessor is not initiating. They are participating.

The Cost of Intercession

Intercession costs something. This is what distinguishes it from casual prayer. A request takes a moment. Intercession takes a posture — a decision to stand in a position and stay there regardless of how long it takes, regardless of what it costs, regardless of whether the answer is visible yet.

Moses interceded for Israel at Sinai after the golden calf. He stood between the wrath of God and the sin of the people and said: "Yet now, if thou wilt forgive their sin; and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou hast written" (Exodus 32:32). Moses offered his own place in the book of life as collateral for the people's pardon. That is intercession. That is the price of the gap.

Elijah interceded for rain on Mount Carmel. He prayed with his face between his knees — not once, not twice, but seven times. After six prayers, the servant said: there is nothing. Elijah said: go again. The seventh time, there was a cloud the size of a man's hand. Intercession does not stop when the answer is delayed. It intensifies.

Nehemiah heard that Jerusalem was in ruins and sat down and wept and mourned and fasted and prayed for days (Nehemiah 1:4). Before he laid one stone, he stood in the gap through prayer. The rebuilding of the city began in the place of intercession.

Interceding for Your City

"Pray for the peace of Jerusalem: they shall prosper that love thee."

— Psalm 122:6, KJV

The God-Incarnate being carries a responsibility to their city. Not just to their church. Not just to their neighborhood. To the city. The same God who told Abraham that He would spare Sodom for ten righteous people (Genesis 18:32) is looking for intercessors in every city who will stand in the gap between heaven's desire and the city's condition.

Interceding for your city means calling it by name before God. It means repenting on behalf of its sins the way Daniel repented for Jerusalem: "We have sinned, and have committed iniquity, and have done wickedly" — using "we" even though Daniel himself was one of the most righteous men alive (Daniel 9:5). Identificational repentance. Standing in the gap not just for your own life but for the collective life of the city you inhabit.

It means declaring the Word of God over your city. "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people" (Proverbs 14:34). The intercessor speaks this truth over the city in prayer — calling for righteousness, calling for the fear of the Lord, calling for the salvation of the souls who are perishing on those streets, in those offices, in those homes.

Interceding for Nations

"Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession."

— Psalm 2:8, KJV

God told His Son: ask Me. Ask Me for the nations. The inheritance is available — but it requires the asking. The God-Incarnate being who stands in the gap for nations is participating in the answer to that prayer. Every time an intercessor lifts a nation before God — calling for the salvation of its people, the justice of its systems, the righteousness of its leadership, the protection of its children — they are adding their voice to the prayer the Son Himself has prayed.

This is not a metaphor. This is not inspirational language. The history of global revival is the history of intercession. The Welsh Revival of 1904 — which swept 100,000 people into the kingdom in six months — was preceded by a young coal miner named Evan Roberts who spent months in agonized intercession. The Azusa Street Revival of 1906 — which gave birth to the Pentecostal movement that now numbers over 600 million people worldwide — was rooted in a prayer meeting. The intercessors preceded the outpouring every time.

God does not bypass His people to bless the world. He blesses the world through His people. The intercessor is not a spectator watching God work. The intercessor is a participant — a co-laborer with God in the redemption of the earth.

Interceding for Generations

"I have set watchmen upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the LORD, keep not silence, And give him no rest, till he establish, and till he make Jerusalem a praise in the earth."

— Isaiah 62:6-7, KJV

Watchmen. God posted watchmen on the walls and gave them one instruction: do not be silent. Give God no rest. Keep pressing, keep declaring, keep standing in the gap until what God has promised becomes what actually exists. The intercessor is a watchman on the walls of time — holding the position, speaking the Word, refusing to be silent until the promise is fulfilled.

The prayers of one generation become the inheritance of the next. When a God-Incarnate being intercedes for their children and grandchildren, they are making spiritual deposits into an account that will pay dividends for decades. When they intercede for the next generation of the church — the young people who will carry this message forward — they are laying a foundation in prayer that the next generation will build on without knowing who prayed it first.

You may not live to see the full answer. Moses prayed and the generation after him entered Canaan. You may not see the city transformed, the nation turned, the generation awakened. But the prayer does not expire. The gap does not close just because the one who was standing in it has gone on to glory. The prayer is still standing. God is still faithful. The answer is still coming.

How to Develop a Deep Intercessory Life

1. Set Aside Time

Intercession cannot be squeezed into leftover moments. It requires dedicated, undistracted time. The disciples on the day of Pentecost were not casually available. They were in one place, in one accord, continuously (Acts 1:14). Set aside time — daily, weekly — that is specifically for intercession. Not requests for your own life. Time for others. For your city. For your nation. For the lost.

2. Pray in the Spirit

The deepest intercession happens in the Spirit. When the Holy Ghost takes over the prayer and prays through you in tongues, the intercession goes beyond the limits of your natural understanding into the precise, perfect will of God for the situation. Jude 1:20: "praying in the Holy Ghost." Romans 8:26: "groanings which cannot be uttered." Give the Holy Ghost room to intercede through you. Stay in it. Do not cut it short.

3. Use the Word as Your Weapon

The intercessor does not come to the gap with opinions and feelings. They come with the Word of God. Isaiah 62:6 says the watchmen make mention of the Lord. To make mention is to remind God of His own promises — not because He has forgotten, but because the act of declaring His Word in prayer activates it in the spiritual realm. Find the promise in the Word that applies to the situation and speak it. Declare it. Stand on it. Refuse to move from it.

4. Persist

Luke 18:1 says Jesus told a parable to the effect that men ought always to pray and not faint. The temptation of the intercessor is to stop when the answer is delayed. To interpret the silence as rejection. To leave the gap before the breakthrough comes. Do not faint. Do not leave. Do not be moved by what you see or do not see. The answer is coming. Stay in the gap.

5. Respond to the Burdens the Spirit Places

True intercession is not self-generated. It is Spirit-initiated. The Holy Ghost places burdens on the hearts of intercessors — a heaviness for a particular person, a city, a situation, a people group. When you feel that weight, do not push it away. That is the Spirit calling you to the gap. Respond. Pray it through until the burden lifts. The lifting of the burden is often the sign that the prayer has been received and the answer is in motion.

God is still looking for a man. God is still looking for a woman. Someone who will stand in the gap. Someone who will give God no rest. Someone who will pray for the city, pray for the nation, pray for the generation. The position is not vacant. You were born for this gap. Stand in it. Do not leave it. The answer is coming.

Testimonies of Transformation

TESTIMONY 1 — Sam L. · Greenwood, Mississippi

We got saved around the same time. I came to the Lord first. Then a week later, Sam came to the Lord. We were absolute best friends — unsaved and then especially after getting saved. This is the same young man who would come to the Bible studies at the church, and then we would go to his house and continue the Bible study.

Sam was absolutely hungry for God. On fire. Everything about him was for God. He tarried for the Holy Ghost to the point of saliva and tears — he wanted everything about God. We both left the scene of the world. The nightclub life. The alcohol life. The marijuana life. All we wanted was the life of God — and that is just what we received.

Glory to God. We received the fire of God burning and yearning for even more. If there was a church meeting, a convocation, any type of gathering of believers — you could find us there. Two young men, late teens and early twenties, absolutely on fire for God.

Hallelujah. This occurred in our hometown — Greenwood, Mississippi.

— — —

TESTIMONY 2 — Kenneth W. · Baptist Town, Greenwood, Mississippi

"Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory."

— 1 Peter 1:8 (KJV)

One thing that was absolutely striking about Kenneth's salvation — Peter captures it perfectly in Scripture. It was joy unspeakable and full of glory. I have never seen a person so happy after coming to Christ.

That young man had extreme joy. He seemed as though he could not stop laughing and smiling. Absolutely on fire for God. He got saved in Greenwood, Mississippi, in a little small community we call Baptist Town. He was excited for the things of God. He loved church. He loved Bible study whenever we had a chance to meet.

Whenever he saw me coming, you saw that gigantic smile — beautiful white teeth. It was joy unspeakable and full of glory.

The power of God is able to heal any depression.
The life of God is able to resurrect any dying soul.
And that is just what happened to this young man.

— — —

TESTIMONY 3 — V. W. · Greenwood, Mississippi

One of the most remarkable cases of transformation I have ever witnessed involves a young man I will call V. W. This young man had same-sex desires. I had seen him several times throughout the city.

One night, after evangelizing the city, I was walking home through a park and came across him and some of his friends. I began to share with them the good news of Jesus Christ — and specifically I was talking to them about the reality of eternity. After that night, V. W. gave his life to the Lord.

He was absolutely on fire. He explained that he felt something inside of him — something in his spirit — that he tried to speak about but could not because it was so powerful. He greatly fell in love with the Lord. Fell in love with the church. He was a very, very extremely kind young man — but he had been caught up in the life of same-sex desires.

By the grace of God, he was freed. He began to serve God humbly, excitedly, and lovingly. This is not psychology. This is not behavior modification. This is what happens when the sperma of God enters a dead spirit and raises it to life — the dead things die and the new creation takes over.

This young man was also from Greenwood, Mississippi.

— — —

TESTIMONY 4 — Delbert · Greenwood, Mississippi

This is one of the precious ones to me. Delbert and I met at a restaurant where we both worked as busboys — cleaning tables, working side by side. We became the best of friends. I am a Black brother and he was a White brother. And in the heart of the South, with racial tension still very much alive, this young man and I became absolute best friends.

I remember one of the first joyful moments we had together. We were talking about the parts of the chicken we enjoyed eating. I remember saying I did not like the white meat. He looked at me with a smile and asked: "What white meat are you talking about?" I immediately knew what he meant and we both burst out laughing at the same time. I said: "Not that white meat — I'm talking about the white meat from the chicken." And at that moment, Delbert and I became inseparable.

This was not a coincidence. This was God placing two men together across a racial divide — before either of us fully understood what God was doing — so that one could lead the other to Christ.

I led Delbert to the Lord. He came to the church on a wonderful Sunday morning with his precious wife. What a beautiful sight. The grace and the power of God to save and transform lives — it does not matter what life it is. As long as it has a spirit that needs to be resurrected, and as long as it has breath in the body that can receive salvation, the power and the love and the grace of God is able to raise that dead spirit to complete and wonderful life.

This is the one new man that Ephesians 2:15 speaks of. Not Black and White sitting in separate pews. One new creation in Christ Jesus — laughing together over chicken.

— — —

TESTIMONY 5 — The Sisters · Greenwood, Mississippi

This final testimony involves several young ladies — sisters in the Lord, though not my biological sisters. These were young women from that same area of Greenwood, Mississippi. Somehow we knew each other, and somehow we began to talk. I would invite everybody I met to know the Lord. I would invite everybody to church. And these young ladies eagerly came.

They gave their lives to the Lord. They began to live beautifully clean, pure, sanctified lives — on fire for God. They would always call me Brother Willie or Will Edward. Those were absolute beautiful times. I will never forget them. And I do not want to forget them.

That same fire that led me to reach souls back then in Greenwood, Mississippi — that same fire burns within me right now.

Hallelujah. Even more, Lord Jesus. Come.

— — —

These five testimonies are offered to you — the reader — as living proof that everything this book has described is not theology alone. It is experience. It is real. It happened to real people in a real town in Mississippi, and it is available to every person who will open their heart to receive the seed of God.

The God-Incarnate life is not reserved for the educated, the refined, or the spiritually advanced. It is available to a nightclub worker, a busboy, a young man walking through a park, a laughing young man in Baptist Town, and a group of young women who just needed someone to invite them to church.

It is available to you.

Greek and Hebrew Word Glossary

A Reference Guide to Original Language Terms Used in This Book

The following terms appear throughout God-Incarnate Beings. Understanding the original Hebrew and Greek behind these words unlocks dimensions of meaning that English translation alone cannot fully carry.

Hebrew Terms

נְשָׁמָה (neshamah) — The breath of God directly imparted into Adam (Genesis 2:7). The divine breath entering the human form. Distinct from ordinary wind (ruach).

נֶפֶשׁ חַיָּה (nephesh chayah) — Living soul (Genesis 2:7). The composite term for the first human being after God breathed the neshamah into the dust. The first human species at the moment of its creation.

קָדוֹשׁ (qadosh) — Holy, set apart, consecrated. To be cut off from the common and devoted entirely to the sacred.

שָׁפָל (shaphal) — Low, humble (Isaiah 57:15). To occupy the position of total dependence and submission before God.

דָּכָא (dak'e) — Crushed, contrite (Psalm 51:17). The specific condition of heart that God inhabits and revives.

עָרַג ('arag) — Pant, long with desperate desire (Psalm 42:1). The physical, urgent longing of a deer that will not survive without water.

דָּרַשׁ (darash) — Search, seek diligently (Jeremiah 29:13). Persistent pursuit that does not stop until it finds.

Greek Terms

λόγος (Logos) — The eternal Word of God (John 1:1). The divine intelligence through whom all things were made. Made flesh in the Incarnation.

σάρξ (sarx) — Real, physical, biological flesh (John 1:14). The Incarnation was material, bodily, and complete.

καινή κτίσις (kaine ktisis) — New creation (2 Corinthians 5:17). New in kind, qualitatively different. Not renovation of the old but the emergence of a new species of being.

νεκρός (nekros) — Dead (Ephesians 2:1). The same word used for physical corpses applied to the human spirit before regeneration. Not weakened. Dead.

σπέρμα θεοῦ (sperma theou) — The seed of God (1 John 3:9). The divine DNA implanted in the regenerated spirit. Remains permanently in the born-again believer.

πρωτότοκος (prototokos) — Firstborn (Romans 8:29). Christ is the prototype; believers are the product.

σύμμορφος (symmorphous) — Conformed to the same form (Romans 8:29). Shaped into the same essential nature as the risen Christ.

ἀνωθεν (anowthen) — From above (John 3:3). Born again means born from above — from heaven, from God, from the incorruptible seed of the Father.

πλήρωμα (pleroma) — Fullness (Ephesians 3:19). All the fullness of God. Not a portion but total occupancy.

ὑπερεκπερισσοῦ (hyperekperissou) — Exceeding abundantly above (Ephesians 3:20). A triple superlative Paul invented because no existing word was large enough.

θείας κοινωνοί φύσεως (theias koinonoi phuseos) — Partakers of the divine nature (2 Peter 1:4). Not observers but genuine participants in the divine nature.

μεταμορφώ (metamorphoo) — Transformed, transfigured (Romans 12:2). The same word as the Transfiguration of Christ. From glory to glory.

πολίτευμα (politeuma) — Citizenship, commonwealth (Philippians 3:20). Our citizenship IS in heaven — present tense, already, now.

κούλλος (kullos) — Maimed, missing limb (Matthew 15:30). Those with absent or completely deformed limbs who came to Jesus and were made holos — completely whole.

όλος (holos) — Whole, complete, every part intact (Matthew 15:31). The word used for the restoration of the maimed — not partial healing but complete original design restored.

δύναμις (dunamis) — Power, explosive ability (Luke 9:1). The power given to disciples to heal and deliver — the same power that worketh in us (Ephesians 3:20).

έξουσία (exousia) — Authority, legal right (Luke 9:1). Given alongside dunamis — not just the ability but the right to exercise it over all devils and diseases.

όμολογέω (homologeō) — Confess, say the same thing (1 John 1:9). To agree with God about what happened. Receive the cleansing. Get back up.

γινώσκω (ginosko) — To know intimately (Philippians 3:10). Relational, experiential knowing — the kind Paul hungered for.

About the Author

Pastor Willie E. Johnson, LCSW

Pastor Willie E. Johnson is an ordained minister, licensed clinical social worker (LCSW), and lifelong student of the Scripture whose greatest passion is the pursuit of the fullness of Christ in the fullness of His body.

Drawing from decades of ministry, pastoral care, and clinical practice, Pastor Johnson bridges the worlds of spiritual formation and human wholeness, bringing to bear both the revelatory power of the Word of God and a deep understanding of the human person in every dimension — spirit, soul, and body.

His life message is the message of this book: that the born-again believer is not a slightly improved natural human but a genuinely new kind of being — a member of a new human species, carrying the seed of God, inhabited by the Spirit of the risen Christ, and destined for full conformity to the image of the firstborn Son. That this life requires and produces both supernatural gifting and Christlike character. And that it is available to every believer, from every culture and background, without distinction, in the one new man that is the body of Christ.

Pastor Johnson's ministry is grounded in the conviction that the multicultural body of Christ — every tongue, every tribe, every nation — is the most glorious expression of the wisdom of God available to a watching universe, and that unity in the body of Christ is not merely a desirable goal but a theological necessity and a prophetic witness.

Scripture Reference Index

All Scriptures are from the King James Version (KJV) unless otherwise noted. Hebrew and Greek terms are provided for study and meditation.

Genesis 1:26-27 — Image (tselem) and likeness (demuth) of God — the original God-likeness of the first human species

Genesis 2:7 — The neshamah — God's own breath directly imparted, making man a living soul (nephesh chayah)

Numbers 12:3 — Moses the meekest (prautes) of all men — power submitted to God

Nehemiah 8:10 — The joy of the LORD is your strength

Psalms 8:5-6 — Man made a little lower than God (Elohim), crowned with glory and honor

Psalms 22:22 — Christ declaring the Father's name to His brethren — quoted in Hebrews 2:12

Psalms 42:1-2 — The longing soul — panteth ('arāg) after the living God

Psalms 51:17 — A broken and contrite heart God will not despise

Psalms 84:2 — Soul longeth and fainteth for the courts of the LORD

Isaiah 57:15 — The High and Lofty One dwells with the contrite and humble (shaphal/dak'e) spirit

Ezekiel 36:26-27 — A new heart, a new spirit — God removes the stony heart and gives His own Spirit

Jeremiah 29:13 — Search for Me with all your heart (darash) and you will find Me

Matthew 11:29 — Learn of me; for I am meek (prautes) and lowly in heart

Luke 17:21 — The kingdom of God is within you (entos hymōn)

Luke 22:42 — Not my will but thine — the supreme expression of meekness

John 1:1-3, 14 — The Logos made flesh (sarx), tabernacling (eskenosen) among us

John 3:3, 6 — Born again from above (gennethē anōthen) — Spirit producing spirit

John 14:17, 20 — Spirit moves from beside (para) to within (en) — triple mutual indwelling

John 15:5 — I am the vine — abiding produces fruit; apart from Him, nothing

Acts 2:17-18 — Prophecy on sons and daughters, old and young — Joel 2 fulfilled at Pentecost

Acts 6:8 — Stephen full of faith and power — gifts and fruit together

Acts 7:60 — Stephen's death: Lord lay not this sin to their charge — love under extreme pressure

Romans 5:5 — Love (agape) shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost

Romans 5:12-21 — Adam vs. Christ — death through one man, righteousness and life through One

Romans 8:11 — The Spirit that raised Christ dwells (oikei) in you — resurrection power resident

Romans 8:15-17 — Spirit of adoption — Abba Father — joint-heirs (syntektonomoi) with Christ

Romans 8:29 — Predestined (proorizo) to be conformed (symmorphous) to image of Son — firstborn among many

Romans 8:38-39 — Nothing in all creation can separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus

Romans 10:17 — Faith comes by hearing — the Word as vehicle carrying the regenerating seed

Romans 12:1-2 — Living sacrifice — transformed (metamorphoo) by renewing of the mind

1 Corinthians 6:17 — One spirit (hen pneuma) with the Lord

1 Corinthians 6:19 — Body as temple (naos) of the Holy Ghost — the Holy of Holies in human flesh

1 Corinthians 12:7-10 — The nine gifts of the Spirit — given to every man to profit the body

1 Corinthians 13:2 — Gifts without love (agape) — nothing before God

1 Corinthians 14:2-5 — Tongues for private prayer; interpretation equals prophecy in public effect

1 Corinthians 15:45-47 — First Adam: living soul. Last Adam: life-giving Spirit. Two human species.

2 Corinthians 3:18 — From glory to glory (metamorphoo) — ever-deepening transformation by the Spirit

2 Corinthians 5:17 — Kaine ktisis — new creation (new in kind). A new human species.

2 Corinthians 7:1 — Cleanse from all filthiness of flesh and spirit — perfecting holiness

2 Corinthians 11:13-14 — Satan masquerades as an angel of light — the counterfeit of the divine

2 Corinthians 13:14 — The grace, love, and communion of the triune God be with you all

Galatians 2:20 — Crucified with Christ; Christ liveth in me

Galatians 3:28 — Neither Jew nor Greek, bond nor free, male nor female — all one in Christ

Galatians 5:22-23 — The nine fruit of the Spirit — one fruit, nine dimensions, the character of God

Ephesians 2:1 — Dead (nekros) in trespasses and sins — the condition requiring the new birth

Ephesians 2:6 — Seated with Christ (sunekathisen) in heavenly places — past tense, accomplished

Ephesians 2:10 — God's workmanship (poiema) — His masterwork, created in Christ Jesus

Ephesians 2:14-16 — One new man (kainon anthropon) — every wall of partition broken down in Christ

Ephesians 3:14-21 — The great prayer — filled with all the fullness of God (hyperekperissou)

Ephesians 4:18 — Alienated from the life of God — the spiritual death of the unregenerate

Philippians 2:5-8 — The mind of Christ — ekenosen (self-emptied); servant; obedient to death

Philippians 4:4 — Rejoice always — joy as a commanded state, not a circumstantial emotion

Colossians 1:15, 18 — Firstborn (prototokos) over all creation and from among the dead

Colossians 1:27 — Christ in you (Christos en hymin) — the mystery revealed; the hope of glory

Colossians 2:9 — All fullness of the Godhead bodily in Christ — and you are complete in Him

2 Timothy 3:5 — Form of godliness without power — the most dangerous counterfeit; from such turn away

Titus 2:11-14 — Grace that trains (paideuo) — zealous for good works

Hebrews 1:3 — Brightness (apaugasma) and express image (charakter) of God — upholding all things

Hebrews 2:10-12 — All from one (ex henos pantes) — Christ not ashamed to call believers brethren

Hebrews 2:14-15 — Christ shared our flesh to destroy the power of death from within

Hebrews 4:14-16 — Great High Priest — approach the throne with boldness (parrësia)

Hebrews 12:14 — Without holiness (choris hagiasmos) no man shall see the Lord

Hebrews 12:29 — Our God is a consuming fire

1 Peter 1:15-16 — Be holy in all manner of conversation (en pase anastrophe) — for I am holy

1 Peter 1:23 — Born of incorruptible seed (spora) — the divine mechanism of the new birth

2 Peter 1:3-4 — Partakers of the divine nature (theias koinōnoi phuseōs) — the highest human destiny

1 John 3:1-2 — Children of God now; when He appears we shall be like Him

1 John 3:9 — God's seed (sperma theou) remains in the born-again believer — the divine DNA

1 John 4:4 — Greater is He that is in you than he that is in the world

Revelation 7:9 — Every nation, kindred, people, and tongue before the throne — the destiny of the new species